Rev. Donovan to Go From St. Aloysius To Bucks Parish

The Rev. Francis A. Donovan, assistant rector of St. Aloysius Catholic church since June, 1950, will be transferred to another parish Wednesday, it was announced yesterday.

Father Donovan will serve as assistant rector of Holy Trinity Catholic church, Morrisville, Bucks county.

Replacing him at St. Aloysius Catholic church will be the Rev. Michael Walsh, presently assistant rector at the parish Father Donovan will join.

"I have been well pleased with my stay here in Pottstown," Father Donovan said. "The people here have been very co-operative and very pleasant.

"It is with deep regret that I leave here but my work calls me to another assignment," he said.

Father Donovan said that his replacement, Father Walsh, was ordained at the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul in Philadelphia, December, 1945, the same year and same place he was ordained.

"We were classmates at the seminary," Father Donovan said.

Both priests attended St. Charles Borromeo Seminary in Overbrook.

AFTER FATHER DONOVAN was ordained he was assigned to St. Joseph's Catholic church, Girardville, Schuylkill county. He remained there until he came to Pottstown in June, 1950.

Father Walsh was assigned to St. Catherine's Catholic church, Mt. Penn, immediately after he was ordained.

He served there for two years and was transferred to St. Bernard's Catholic church, Easton, for another two years

ke Escapes njury When Ramp Breaks

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 26 (AP)— en. Dwight D. Eisenhower escaped ıhurt tonight when temporary ands on the steps of the Virginia ate capitol collapsed under the eight of spectators as he was alking off the rostrum after mak- g a major address.

Eisenhower was walking with en. William F. Knowland of Cali- rnia down a ramp leading from e speaker's stand when the ooden structure collapsed under ıe weight of spectators crowding ıto it, chanting "We Like Ike."

Eisenhower, the Republican Presidential nominee, stumbled to his knees as the ramp collapsed with a loud crack.

Knowland and others who were accompanying him grabbed Eisenhower by the arm and prevented a full fall.

The general was about six feet om the end of the ramp when fell.

Mrs. Eisenhower had just passed 'er it.

Because the ramp fell only a w feet apparently no one was riously injured although a score

Sports Area Promised at Proposed Dam

There will be boating, hunting and fishing, if and when, the controversial dam in the Perkiomen valley in the Green Lane area is constructed by the Philadelphia Suburban Water company, the company promised.

Company representatives yesterday assured Montgomery county commissioners and members of the Montgomery County Federation of Sportsmen the dam would be a haven for outdoor activities.

They explained dam plans call for the checking of flood waters only.

The dam issue has been on the griddle for several years. Many residents up and down the valley have protested erection of the dam and lake.

A number of persons, led by Grover C. Ladner, former Pennsylvania Supreme court judge, have offered stern oppositon to the project.

They have contended the water company dam and lake would ruin the Perkiomen creek for thousands of resident down the valley.

IT WAS pointed out yesterday the flow of the Perkiomen in the lower valley will not be appreciably reduced by construction of the dam.

The only restriction on recreation facilities at the dam will be a ban on swimming. The possibility of a duck hunting paradise was discussed.

The county federation will voice no opposition to the dam if it is assured game will be preserved by the project.

The projected dam and lake with a 17-mile circumference could be developed into a breeding harbor for wild ducks.

WATER COMPANY officials said they would try to get the Montgomery County Park commission to take over the new dam

Jews to Observe Yom Kippur

At sundown tomorrow, Yom Kippur, the "Day of Atonement," will start for local Jewry and Jews all over the world.

Yom Kippur will climax the 10-day period of penitence which started with Rosh Hashanah (the Jewish New Year) the past Friday night.

Regarded by Jews as the most solemn day of the year, it calls for complete abstinance from food and drink for a period of 24 hours, plus attendance at services.

Yom Kippur services at Pottstown's Mercy and Truth synagog will start tomorrow with candle lighting at 5:20 p. m., followed by the "Kol Nidre" service at 5:30. Dr. Emil Schorsch, rabbi, announced his sermon is titled "The Elixir of Life."

Monday morning services will start at 8:30 a. m. with "The Unknown Day of Delight" as the topic of the rabbi's sermon. Youth services will be conducted at 11:30 a. m. and 3 p. m. by Sidney Weiss.

Highway Committee to Prepare Detailed Plan for Council on Street Improvements

Time to Call a Halt

The hands of time are seldom tampered with, but a pair of junior mechanics are all set to kill Mr. Daylight Saving Time, 1952. James Allen Welsh, 3½, (left) and John Alfred Welsh, 18 months, (right), sons of Alfred Welsh, 1000 Schuylkill road, Kenilworth, are changing the face of time with enthusiasm. Pottstonians will get another hour under the covers Sunday morning. Those who own clocks with striking mechanisms cannot apply the standard turnback procedure. They must set their time pieces ahead 11 hours. All others, set your clocks and watches BACK ONE HOUR, for Daylight Saving Time ends at 2 a. m. tomorrow.

Public Will Get Facts For Bond Issue Voting

By BARRY R. NEMCOFF
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Council's highway-sewer committee voted last night to prepare a detailed plan on the Pottstowns street improvement program and bond issue to be submitted to council at its next meeting, Oct. 13.

The statement will include estimated costs of the project and methods of paying off the proposed $750,000 bond issue which council voted Sept. 8 to put on the Nov. 4 ballot.

It will be presented to council with the hope it will be adopted as a resolution, following which it is planned to present copies of it to the public in an effort to make all issues clear when they vote.

Most of the questions and problems connected with the project were posed last night by Paul P. Kohler.

Kohler wanted to know what promise there was of State-owned streets in Pottstown being repaired along with the other streets if the bond issue were passed.

Dow I. Sears, assistant to the borough manager, explained that the only promise made by the State was to repair State street, from Reynolds avenue to Fifth street "if their budget permits it in 1953."

ANOTHER technicality on State improvements of thoroughfares emphasized by Sears was a ruling that streets must be 26 feet wide for them to do any work. "And many places along Manatawny street are not that wide and can't be widened," Sears said.

Kohler also wanted to know what would be done by the water department to replace piping when streets were torn up for rebuilding.

Solicitor C. Edmund Wells assured him that "every reasonable effort" would be made to replace them.

At this point, Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden interjected that certain streets without water or sewer lines should have them installed during the building process. "We don't want to be holding the bag if someone should suddenly decide to begin construction of homes along these streets," he commented.

Paul Marshall, chairman of the committee, suggested a building program of no more than two years which met with unanimous approval.

IN AMPLIFYING on this Marshall said, "We could start on the streets with lines already installed during 1953 and work on the other streets in 1954. Meanwhile, lines could be put into streets that needed them during the first year."

It was Wells who suggested the fomulation of a statement of what the committee is trying to accomplish so it can present a concrete

Peanut Sale Is Far Ahead Of Schedule

Thirteen Kiwanis club peanut vendors set up in business for a two-day stand yesterday on High street and sold almost all their wares the first day.

Garbed in white aprons and caps bearing the Kiwanis seal, and bearing baskets heaped with bags of peanuts still scented with the aroma of the roaster, the volunteer vendors sold 2000 bags during the afternoon and evening from their 2400 bag supply.

Charles F. Fegley, chairman of the boy and girl committee, who also had charge of the crew of boys bagging the peanuts at the YMCA, gave credit for the surprisingly large sale yesterday to the agreeable weather and the shopping crowds that descended upon High street last night.

"We are a little overwhelmed," he said last night when the vendors turned in their report. "Tomorrow is the national day for the sale. Today we were just on a trial run."

THE SALE IS STAGED annually by the Kiwanians to mark National Kids Day. Money realized from the sale is added to other local funds to help underprivileged youngsters—to give them camping trips, clothes, scholarships and training in vocational arts.

The peanut sale is staged to call attention to the need for such aid as well as to furnish funds for it.

"The National Kids' Day got its start in Cleveland, Ohio," Fegley explained. "Members of local clubs all over the country sell peanuts or buttons. Jimmy Fidler, the newspaper

Man Who 'Meant No Harm' Gets Lenient Sentence

By Staff Correspondent

NORRISTOWN, Sept 26—Stephen Keller, 45, of 552 Beech street, Pottstown, was placed on probation for six months by Judge George C. Corson in Criminal court yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of violation of the uniform firearms act.

According to Pottstown Motor Patrolman Stanley Borowy, the defendant was caught in the 600 block of Water street, Pottstown on June 9 with a loaded 32 calibre automatic in his possession. Borowy said that Keller also had several extra bullets in his pockets.

In view of the fact that Judge Corson believed the defendant's statement that he "meant no harm" in carrying the weapon, he pronounced the lenient sentence.

Augie Tarmin, of Church Road, Graterford, who was acquitted on a charge of resisting arrest at the last session of Criminal court, was ordered to pay the costs of prosecution by Judge Corson.

ALTHOUGH THE jury returned a verdict of not guilty, it decreed that Tarmin settle for the costs.

He was arrested May 23 by Officer Thomas Dewan, of Bridgeport, who testified that Tarmin

Three Church Pages!

There's a galaxy of church news in The Mercury's new and improved church section.

Three pages this morning bring all the news of all the churches.

Turn now to Pages 5, 6 and 7.

This Proud Grandma Is Only 35 Years Old

Mrs. Harry H. Cummins, 895 Queen street, who is twice a grandmother although she is only 35 years old, looked yesterday at both sides of the question of becoming a grandparent early in life.

The grandchildren of Mrs. Cummins, who will be 36 on March 12, are Deborah Jean Brightbill, 15 months, and Cynthia Louise Brightbill, 3 months, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brightbill, Douglassville RD 1.

Mrs. Brightbill is the former Arlene Cummins. She will be 18 in December.

The 35-year-old grandmother named some of the advantages of being a grandmother early. "For one thing," she said, "I think you can do more for them—financially, I mean particularly—than you could do for your children when you were newly married and just starting out in life."

Mrs. Cummins noted that, as was true of most of today's young grandparents, she and her husband were married during the depression.

Another advantage of having grandchildren, she said, is "they keep us young."

IN ADDITION to her grandchildren and her daughter, whom she sees almost every day, Mrs. Cummins has a 13-year-old son, Harry Jr., who is attending Pottstown Junior High school.

Mrs. Cummins is a special machine operator for Westbrook Dress company, working a full 40-hour week except during the occasional lulls, such as the plant is now having.

Mrs. Cummins still finds time for two leisuretime interests—politics and crocheting. She is Republican inspector of elections in the Sixth ward, and is now crocheting a large afghan.

For 11 years, she also was nursery school superintendent at St. James Lutheran church.

In fairness to Pottstown's young mothers who will find their hands full at home, Mrs. Cummins pointed out that

Highway Worker Is Hit by Car, Badly Injured

Samuel H. Bean, 63, of Collegeville RD 1, was injured seriously early yesterday morning when he was hit by a car while walking with the highway department along Route 422.

He suffered a fractured pelvis, cuts of both legs and a dislocated right thumb.

A Montgomery hospital, Norristown, spokesman last night said Bean "is resting comfortably. The reports on X-rays have not been returned."

Bean was hit by a 1939 sedan driven by George W. Bowman, 72, of Collegeville RD 2. He was working with a highway crew in Lower Providence township near Eagleville.

BOWMAN WAS driving west on 422 when his sedan struck Bean at 7:40 o'clock.

After striking the highway worker, the sedan crashed into a parked truck owned by Charles H. Detwiler, of Norristown.

The left front and left rear fenders of the truck were damaged. The right headlight and the right front and rear fenders of the car were damaged.

Jeffersonville State police estimated damage to the two vehicles at $100.

Bobby Walters' Fund Keeps on Getting Bigger

Although smaller in volume yesterday, contributions for the Bobby Walters Fund continued to arrive at The Mercury office.

Below is the list of new sympathizers with the little 4-year-old cancer and polio victim who they hope can be cured through their kind donations:

Howard Reigner, Stowe	$ 1.00
Peggy & Jean James, Royersford	1.00
Mrs. Mildred James, Royersford	1.00
Section 313, Pottstown Jr. High School	10.51

Weatherman Will Try Again

The weatherman was wrong again.

He predicted showers for Pottstown yesterday, but it was clear and balmy. A southwest wind helped dehydrate damp fields.

Farmers were able to get in another lick at Fall chores. Despite the warm sun and breeze the temperature slumped at nightfall and the common cold, an annual Fall pest, invaded new homes.

For the weekend traveler, the weekend forecast is nearly perfect. It will be fair and cooler with a high of from 60 to 66 today. Tomorrow there will be considerable cloudiness. It will be a little warmer.

Medical Society to Honor Dr. J. C. Landis, Pennsburg

By NORMAN B. REED
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Memories of driving a horse and buggy along sticky mud roads while making night calls to patients will probably be flitting through the mind of Dr. James C. Landis tonight.

The 75-year-old physician, still practicing in an office at his home, 723 Main street, Pennsburg, will be honored for 50 years service as a practitioner of medicine at a dinner-dance tonight at 6:30 o'clock in the Valley Forge hotel, Norristown.

The dinner is being given by the Montgomery county medical society, which will present a plaque and a citation to Dr. Landis in recognition of his half century of service.

Dr. Landis drove a horse and buggy on his rounds during the first 15 years of his private practice, he recalled last night. Three years of this period, from 1904 until 1907, he spent practicing in Rockford, Indiana.

"I had a buggy that was hand-made by a man in Green Lane—I'm sorry, I don't recall his name," Dr. Landis explained. "It was one of those black ones with the folding canvas top and red spoke wheels with steel rims for tires."

THIS WAS what the doctor called a "wide gauge" buggy. When he got to Indiana he found that the wheels were too far apart for the narrow roads there.

"So I had to have it changed to narrow gauge," he laughed. "A wagonmaker out there set the wheels closer together so I could stay out of the ditch when I drove

Perkiomen School Names Pottstown Native as Dean

Richard F. Weikel, 201 Seminary avenue, Pennsburg, a native of Pottstown, has been appointed dean of students at Perkiomen school, Pennsburg, by Headmaster Stephen W. Roberts, it was announced yesterday.

Before joining the preparatory school's staff five years ago, Weikel served 4½ years in the Army during World War II. He holds a captain's rank in the Army reserve.

In addition to being dean of students, he is head of the social studies department and a faculty representative on the student senate and discipline committee. Next Spring, he will coach track.

Weikel received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1947 and his master of arts degree from Lehigh university in 1950.

His wife is the former Mary Elizabeth Thomas, also from Pottstown. They have three children: Richard, 4, Christopher, 3, and William, 7 months.

Mrs. Ross Spera, Bethel road, entertained a group at her home in the interest of the Ladies auxiliary of the Ridge Fire company. A demonstration was given by Mrs. Florence Smith, Birdsboro A social time was spent and refreshments were served

Those who attended were Mrs. William Jones Mrs. Clifford Jones, Mrs Elizabeth Rosen, Mrs Charles Ibach, Mrs Earl Weaver, Mrs. Lloyd Graham, Elizabeth Demter, Mrs John Hewitt, Mrs Carl Dieter, Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs Louis Fackley and Mrs Ralph Bronson

The Girl Scouts and Brownies of Brownback's church started a new season of scouting with a meeting at the church. Mrs. Carolus Wade, district leader, introduced leaders for the various groups— Mrs Jean Geyer and Mrs. Dorothy Warwick, Girl Scouts, Mrs Robert W. Caldwell Jr and Mrs William Johnson, Brownies; and Mrs. Earl R. Francis, senior Scouts (girls over 14). The first regular meeting of the season will be held next Wednesday night in the church basement

Mrs Reginald Scheetz, Fox Farm road, near Anselma, was hostess to members of the Sewing circle of St Peter's Lutheran church, Pikeland, and the day was spent in making crib quilts and aprons. The members had embroidered blocks from which the quilts are being made and the quilts will be sold to add to the treasury of the organization Box lunches were enjoyed with dessert served by the hostess

During a business session presided over by Mrs Scheetz, president of the organization, the sum of $50 was voted to the fund for cement work that has been done on the church property. Lutheran 1953 church calendars will be secured for sale by the group The meeting next month will be held at the home of Mrs. Herbert Windolph, near Anselma.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Irma Williams, Mrs. John Kasitz, Mrs. Joseph Pollock, Mrs Mary MacAdams, Mrs. Emma Deery, Mrs Leon Holman, Mrs. R Stanley Davis, Mrs Everett Segner, Mrs George Lacy, Mrs. Herbert Windolph and the Rev. Robert W. Kiefer.

Isabel Ferree, Kirkwood, Pa., a member of the faculty at the East Pikeland Consolidated school, Kimberton, received a degree of Master of Education from the University of Delaware at convocational exercises held the past Sunday afternoon at Newark, Del.

Miss Ferree has been teacher of first grade at East Pikeland school for five years. She is a member of Kimberton Grange 1304 and serves as treasurer of the Parent-Teacher association of the school. She lives at 512 Starr street, Phoenixville, during the term.

Harvest Home was observed at the East Vincent Evangelical and Reformed church and a large quantity of canned food, as well as fresh vegetables and boxed groceries, was presented at a donation to the Reformed church home of the aged, Wyncote. The gifts had been arranged by a committee from the women's guild of the church under the direction of Mrs. Russell P. Godshalk.

The Rev Robert F Brillhart, pastor of the church, chose as the topic of his sermon for the morning service "Harvest," with Scripture readings and hymns further amplifying the spirit of the occasion.

The Rev Brillhart used the letters spelling the word harvest. He developed the word as follows: (h) for harmony between God and man to make the harvest possible, and harmony man to man that those who have share with those who do not have; (a) for aspiration everyone must have in always looking towards the harvest and look for bigger and better results; (r) for reverence, (v) for the great variety in God's creation that brings a variety in life; (e) for enthusiasm; (s) for the selection of the best seed, and (t) for thankfulness which everyone should feel for all of the gifts that are sent by God.

Acolytes for the day were James Taylor, Paul Duke and Kenneth Hiltebeitel. The altar was decorated with a large tray of fruit, symbolic of harvest, and Autumn flowers.

The Rev. Thomas E. Anderman, pastor of the Bethel Methodist church, took part in a conference on Christian vocation held over the weekend at Camp Innabah near Pughtown. The conference was sponsored by the Philadelphia Methodist conference and was attended by about 40 persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Favinger and Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Cook compose the committee in charge of the clam bake sponsored by the Married Couple's club next Saturday night at Bethel Methodist church Promotion Day was observed at Brownback's Evangelical and Reformed church where certificates were presented children moving from one department to another and Bibles were given to those who moved from the primary to the junior departments. Two hundred and twenty-eight persons attended the combined service of the Sunday school and church.

Officers of the Sunday school were elected as follows: Raymond Prizer, general superintendent; Robert Painter, assistant superintendent; Mrs. Enos Keeley, adult superintendent; Edgar Peiffer, Young People's superintendent; Benton Halteman, assistant Young People's superintendent; Mrs William Keeley, primary and junior superintendent; Mrs Harry Frick, assistant primary and junior department; Mrs. Warren Holder, superintendent of nursery department; Mrs. Russell Mertz, assistant nursery department; Mrs. Harold Miller, superintendent of beginners' department; Mrs. Harry Cook, assistant; Janet Rice, secretary of the Sunday school; Joan Auld, assistant secretary; Joyce Miller, financial secretary; William Peiffer, treasurer; Mrs. Rupert Miller, home department; Mrs. Warren Holden, superintendent of cradle roll; the Rev. Elmer E. Fahringer, missionary superintendent.

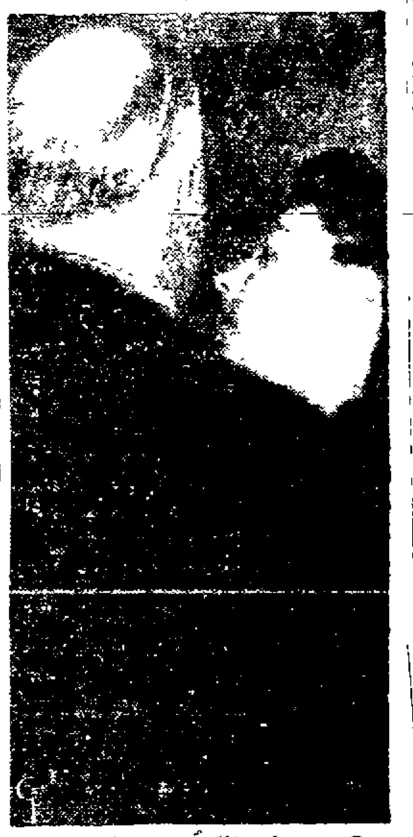

Special music was rendered during the service by a musical group from the Bethel AME church, Pottstown, under the direction of Kenneth Hines. Organ music, vocal solos and duets were given The Rev. Pahringer brought the message during the service.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nagle, Mrs Clara Nagle and Nancy Nagle, Schuylkill Haven, Pa., were afternoon guests at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Elmer E Fahringer, Brownback's church, Ridge road

Mrs. Jane Burby, New York city, is a visitor at the home of her daughter, Mrs Kemp Starrett, "The Grindstone," Ridge road.

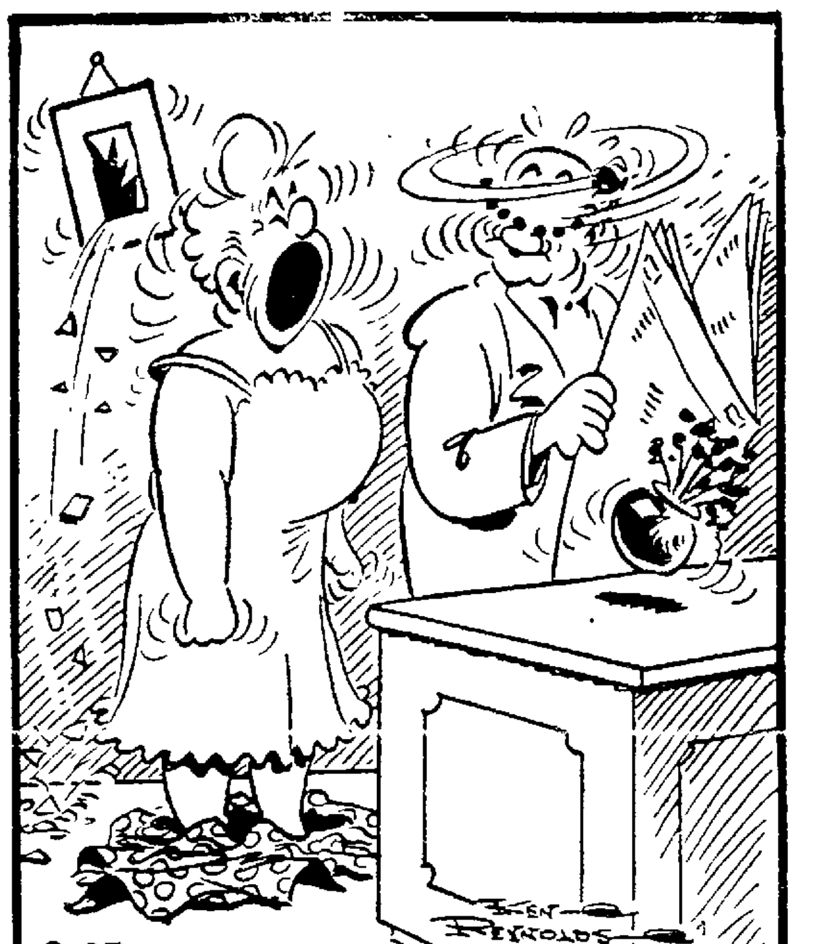

Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Cook and Betty May Cook, "Maple Shade farm," Ridge road; and William Ralston, Spring City, enjoyed a motor trip to Wellsboro, Pa. Mrs Raymond Fryer, Philadelphia, and Mrs. Harry J. Latshaw, Spring City, spent the past weekend at the Cook home.

MORE FANS ANXIOUS TO SEE HIGH SCORING TROJAN SQUAD

The better than 3500 fans who watched the Trojans of Pottstown High in their first and only night game at home this season, went home rubbing their hands, and not because of the damp night air.

If Coach Heber T. Meyers' crew can hold the pace against Norristown—and that is a big if—Trojan followers should turn out en masse for the Saturday afternoon Oct. 18, game with Phoenixville, in the Ches-Mont league opener here.

Those who say Thursday night's game with Upper Merion can vouch for the peppy brand of ball the warriors of Troy have displayed to date in defeating first Lansdale, 33-0, and then the Spartans, 32-12.

Although their point production fell off a point, the offense had a glossy finish on Thursday as compared to its hot and cold showing in the opener. The defense this time was forced to give ground, but to its credit, the Spartan ground and air attack was of high caliber and lacked only a strong line of its own to generate a potent assault.

Individual Trojan performances were neatly jelled to make the successful execution of plays a team effort. The blockers were again great out in the open and caught the eye of many ball-happy fans who usually forget such football orphans exist.

Barely a hand touched Carl Stahl as he returned UM's final kickoff, a real tribute to the men out front. He was finally brought down on the enemy 36 after a beautiful 44 yard return. Stahl's effortless style of running is a fooler to opposing tacklers.

And one of Carl's lefthanded passes to Milt Wensel is going to make connections one of these games. A couple of near misses against Lansdale was followed the other evening by another close one that both Wensel and Steve Chernesky were in position to receive.

Wensel, by the way, got his man-sized paw on a couple of other passes, both thrown by Spartan passers. Charging in high from his defensive tackle slot, hefty Milt twice blocked aerials before they had traveled more than a few yards. His tackling was far improved over the Lansdale game and the big sophomore is learning rapidly.

CHERNESKY was on the right end of several spot passes from Jim Kirk. The spot is usually about five yards down field and 10 yards up in the air. Tacklers have found that trying to bring down Steve's 6-3 frame is like chopping down an oak tree with a pen knife.

And speaking of Kirk, the mightly mite of the team has performed in grand style. His ball handling is slick and the word fumble is lacking from his repertoire—the entire team went bobbleless Thursday after losing a hectic four out of six against Lansdale. Kirk's lob pass to Stahl on the 15-yard TD followed some deft faking that had the defense completely off balance.

It was a profitable day in the statistics department for Kirk. Of the six passes he tried, five were completed. The finishing touch was his two-yard sneak for the Trojans fourth TD.

The other co-captains Bob Sutton and Ron Downie continued their inspirational play. The Upper Merion running game was almost exclusively to its own right. That meant running straight into Sutton, Jack Bechtel, Bill Fisher and linebacker Stahl.

This formidable defensive quartet allowed the Spartans to roll on only two occasions. The first was during its second period scoring drive that covered 63 yards. Of that distance, with every run directed to the right, only 25 yards were covered on the ground.

The bulk of Merions' total ground yardage was accumulated in the last period when Substitute back Elijah Clarke went on a rampage for 66 yards in four straight carries. His last run of 29 yards to the end zone was accomplished, in part, due to high Trojan tackling inside the 10 yard line.

Sutton was injured on a magnificent effort that all but stalled the first Merion scoring march at the Pottstown 40. With inches needed for a first down, the Spartain captain, Whitey Emel bulled forward on a fourth down but was thrown back by Sutton and Bechtel. The officials ruled Emel made the distance but the two Trojan Seniors certainly made it a debatable call with their great stymie work.

DOWNIE and his running mate at guard, Bill Garrow, punched enough holes in the Merion forward wall to keep it in a state of collapse. Neither are content with a single block as they pull out to lead Howie Bedell or Bodolus on a sweep. Downie has not yet found the range on his extra point kicking, but his one successful try Thursday night was booted with the authority of a pro.

Paul Stofko, Bodolus and Bedell shared defensive honors in holding the Spartans passing game down. Stofko had his hands full in the second quarter as coach Tom Campion shifted from a single wing to a double wing with Emel and End Tom Toth spread wide. Twice Stofko knocked down passes and the cagey Harry Kutze shifted his attack in the other direction for the touchdown pass.

Bodolus and Bedell each intercepted passes and Howie nearly broke away for a TD on the last part of the first half as he raced back 33 yards before bumping into one of his own blockers and going down. Bodolus' interception started the Trojans on their fourth touchdown march.

It was during this drive that Bill Kerr returned to action and excelled with several nice dashes through the enemy line. His shoulder held up although he was stretched out on one play that had the fans worrying about his tender wing.

An interesting play that had Meyers shaking his head developed after a Sova's punt was grounded near midfield. The kick was good for 30 yards but when UM was detected offsides, the Trojans decided to take the penalty and kick again, this time from their own 25.

The threat of a blocked punt or a good return by the Spartan safety man loomed, and with PHS leading only 13-6 at the time, Meyers was pacing the grassy floor. But Sova let go with a low driving spiral that eluded safety man Tom Hill and came to rest on the Merion 27.

THE KICK was good for 48 yards and was instrumental in setting up a touchdown the next time Pottstown gained possession.

That play is a good example of the 1952 Trojan pattern of play. Although loaded with sophomores, the team does not lack confidence and is willing to gamble on its own ability. The breaks have certainly not all been on the black side of the ledger, especially the penalties that have plagued Pottstown, causing discouraging setbacks.

But the Trojans seem to have the knack to taking advantage of the favorable breaks and when need be, they create their own good fortune.

Norco, Cols Tie, 6-6

By ED TAGGERT

Two light but scrappy Little Four Perk league teams battled to a 6-6 tie at Collegeville last night as North Coventry came from behind in the third period to spoil Coach Hackman's opening game with the Cols.

The Wildcats threatened several times before that, once reaching the one yard line, but coach Bob Hackman's Cols held on to gain the tie.

Junior halfback Bill Yeagle saved the game for Collegeville with a 71 yard touchdown run from scrimmage on the first play of the second quarter. Taking a handoff from quarterback Fran McManus, Yeagle broke for the left sideline.

He appeared hemmed in at the midfield stripe but cut back to the center sharply and outmaneuvered Lowell Fries to move into open ground. As he cut diagonally back across the field, Norco tackle Rod McMullen gave chase but could not reach the fleet-footed Yeagle.

Norco's sterling quarterback Duke Kinckiner took the Cols' kickoff after McManus' extra point try was wide, and raced up the middle to the Collegeville 48. With Kinckiner, Fries and Domin alterating, Norco drove down to the Cols' 10 yard line before being halted.

A few plays later linebacker Bill Whitlach recovered a Collegeville fumble on the Cols 20 and another drive, that was to fizzle, got underway. With a last down and goal to go on the 10, Kinckiner raced off to the left, cut back and was halted just a yard short of the goal.

Fries paved the way for Norco's TD midway in the third quarter by intercepting a pass by Yeagle on the Cols 49 and running it back seven yards.

TWO RUSHES into the line by Fries placed the ball on the home team's 30, and Kinckiner moved out around right end for another first down at the 20. At this point Domin chipped in with an 11-yard gain off right tackle and Duke added two more yards through the other side of the line.

Fullback Whitlach, who led the defense all evening, rammed through the middle for another three yards.

Now working in a T formation, Kinckiner took the ball from center and handed it off to Fries who shot through the left side of his line for the touchdown.

Kinckiner tried to run the ball over for the extra point but was smeared on the one.

Collegeville had a drive going at the end of the third period that went from its own 35 to the Wildcats 28 before a fourth down pass was grounded.

PLAYING THEIR first game for coach Al Brown, the Norcos had a golden opportunity wiped out in the dying moments of the game.

End Jim Baldorf took a double reverse end-around starting on the Cols 40, and raced all the way to 11, but a clipping penalty was called and Norco had to start all over from their own 40.

On a play they might have given the officials trouble had not a penalty been called. Gerry Hefelfinger raced 29 yards into the end zone for the Cols in the last period. But an off sides penalty was called erasing the play. As Gerry crossed the goal line he was hit and fumbled and the ball was knocked around until it finally went out of the end zone.

Schwenkville Begins Today

Schwenksville High formally begins football this afternoon after a year's layoff with a new coach, Frank Schutz, handling the strategy end.

The Bluebirds, who last made an actual appearance on the grid in 1950, under Mike Hader, visit Wyomissing's Sunsets at 2 p. m. today.

Both clubs are in reasonably good shape as to experience, with Wyomissing mentor Charley Gebensleben having nine back from his 3-2-1 '51 group, and Schutz having about 10 from the past season's "informal" team that fared about equally as well.

The Birds' line will tip in at about a 160 average—the highest figure in many years for them—with the backs hitting 145.

190-pound Tom Newrock, a rugged Soph guard, and Fred Kehs, a Senior end, are the top men along the line for the Bluebirds, with 155-pounder Miles (Buddy) Robbins the backfield's most talented performer.

Shillington Beats Blubirds, 7-0

By GARY TROLLINGER

The arc lamp poles formed the ringposts, the electric wires connecting them, the ropes and in the center of the earthen squared circle raged as savage a lightweight-bantamweight brawl as you could get anywhere outside of St. Nick's.

Shillington's slightly heavier gridders took the cue from an early opportunity to score and squeeze out a 7-0 win over jug-sized Spring City last night in Albright stadium, Reading.

The home club got its only touchdown 10 minutes after the start of the game, in the first quarter, after a touchy bit of strategy by one of the older SC hands presented it with the ball on the Buc 17.

On fourth down with nine to go on the SC 23 Senior quarterback Cal Fox tried to dart from punt formation off right tackle and cut out. He was cut out by a yellow-shirted Speedboy on his own 17 for a six-yard loss, giving the pigskin over to the Shills.

Tailback Bill Steffey spun off guard for a yard and then hit right tackle for five to the 11.

150-pound fullback Bill Conner then worked a spinner, going off left guard and taking the outside track into the end zone with the evening's only score.

Jack Spatz converted from placement for the game's last point.

Conner was the evening's top ground-gainer with a net 69 yards from scrimmage. And every inch was fought for.

HIS LINE, running unbalanced in front of a single wing backfield setup most of the time, proved overly perforated by the foe forwards and every foot over the line of scrimmage was crowded with blue jerseys.

The Pirates, playing their first game in their first season under head coach Eben Cleveland, apparently lacked everything except scrap, and that came in bushels.

The had fair luck in stopping the Speedboys on the ground, but offensively they were just as lax as their opponents.

The Buc ball-carriers, netted 40 yards net between them with 125-pound Soph Bob Stipa

Falcons Open Today

Will West Pottsgrove High school break their opening day jinx?

This afternoon at 2 o'clock when the Falcons meet Jenkintown High school on the Stowe turf will answer the big question. The Jenks in their first outing were defeated, 13-0, by Morrisville.

Coach Charlie Kasmerovicz, scouted the Jenks in their first outing and stressed the Jenks' offense in yesterday afternoon's short practice session.

Last season the Jenks were victorious, 12-6. It was the first meeting of the two teams.

Coach Kasmerovicz will have two veteran backfield stars in the lineup today to help the offense move. Dale Neiman and Paul Strzelecki will control most of the offensive work for the Falcons.

MUCH OF line work will be manned by Paul Fontana and Roy Mest. Mest and Fontana both saw action with the Falcons last season.

Kasmerovicz will send out a brother duo today when the whistle blows. Leroy and Lloyd Carpenter will hold down the wings. Mest and Paul Fontana at guards. Ted Fontana and Sam Daub will open at the tackle slots. Dick Klick will be in the pivot

In the backfield Leidy Gaugler gets the call at quarterback. Strzelecki and Roger Reidger at halfbacks and Neiman will get the fullback spot.

Head coach Charlie Kasmerovicz, of West Pottsgrove, holds the ball as he talks over last minute details with guard Paul Fontano, No. 12, and fullback Paul Strzelecki. On the right is assistant coach Bill Keays. The Falcons begin their season at home this afternoon against Jenkintown.

Moores Chase Lesher

The Moore brothers—Harry and Donald are running neck-and-neck Mose—continue their chase after point leader Reds Lesher this evening as stock car racing gets its weekly local showing, at 8 p. m. at Sanatoga.

Over 45 cars are expected out to lend to the competition in the seven-race card and added Destruction Derby.

Lesher will again defend his point standing lead against the Moores, who have been rapidly overtaking him the past two meets. Reds is still driving his old No. 82 while his new racing stock nears completion.

Only a few points stand between these drivers for topspot. Mose drives car No. 65 of Rittenbaugh fame and Harry drives car No. 71 owned and serviced by Tony Horosky, club president.

Curt Sherman and Harvey McDonald are running neck-and-neck in the qualifying heats while George Greggory is managing to stick close to them staying close to the top pay-off spots.

Some of the other drivers who are finishing near the top are Benny Prutzman, Dick Rodenberger, Don Smoyer, Paul Greggory, Billy Quicksell, Frank Ewing and Rocky Ewing, Jack Raby and many others, spin-outs dictating their positions each heat.

Owls Beat Albright

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26 (P)—Carmen Piccone, a third-string quarterback, scored a touchdown and passed for another to lead Temple to a 21-0 victory over Albright tonight in the Owls home opener before 7500 at Temple Stadium.

Fish, Game Group Plans Meeting

The Tri-County Fish and Game association will hold its regular meeting in the basement of the Empire Hook and Ladder company Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

Pennsylvania Game Commissioner William Miller, of Reading, will be the guest speaker and will show movies.

Yankees Win AL Pennant

Dodgers Warmup With Victory

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26 (AP)—The New York Yankees clinched their fourth consecutive American League pennant tonight when Billy Martin cracked a two-out bases loaded single in the top of the 11th inning to drive in two mates and pave the way for a 5-2 triumph over the fighting Philadelphia Athletics.

The victory assured the Yankees of their 19th championship in the last 32 years.

Johnny Sain, 34-year-old righthander, who pitched the Boston Braves to a National League pennant in 1948, was the winning pitcher, hurling two and one third innings of scoreless relief after squelching a Philadelphia threat in the bottom of the ninth.

Harry Byrd, brilliant rookie righthander, who went all the way for the A's, was charged with the defeat.

The victory gave manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees the distinction of leading a team to four straight pennants, previously accomplished only by Joe McCarthy and John McGraw. Stengel is the first manager ever to win four in a row in his first four years with a club.

Bosox Rookie Wins

BOSTON, Sept. 26 (AP) — Hershel Freeman, making his first major league pitching start, moved the Boston Red Sox into a fifth-place tie with Washington today by defeating the Senators, 3-1, with a four-hit performance.

Chisox Win, 6-2

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (AP) — Saul Rogovin hurled a two hitter tonight to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 6-2 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The triumph, coupled with the Philadelphia Athletics loss to New York, assured the White Sox of at least a tie for third place.

Hill School Veterans

—Mercury Sportsphoto

This trio of Hill school gridders will be on the field at kickoff this afternoon when they meet PMC Prep in their opening game of the season. No. 45, is fullback Dave Armstrong who was letterman last year. Blocking for him is No. 71, Bob Wynn, captain and guard, and Tony Williams, No. 62, a tackle.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Hill Plays PMC Prep

The Hill school will face PMC Prep, a team that sported an undefeated record the past year, in its opener at home this afternoon.

Coach Jack Riley does not know what to expect but his club is ready and raring to go. Seven lettermen are back and several husky linemen will pave the way for the team's top runner, Dave Armstrong.

The 185-pound fullback returns after a good season in 1952. Working at quarterback in Riley's single wing will be Ron Ference. At left half is Duff Bigger, the Texan who will throw in true SMU fashion.

Alex Buhler, at right half rounds out the backfield. Bob Wynn, the 195-pound guard will captain the team this year.

Starting offensive lineup.

Quakers Upset Upper Perk

Fritz Moyer, Quakertown High's ramming left halfback, scored twice on short plunges last night as the hosts rapped Upper Perkiomen, 13-6, for the Perks' first loss of the year.

Moyer's first TD came in the second period and drew the Quakers from behind a six-point deficit. He punched over from the one to cap a 95 yard drive.

In the final stanza Fritz bolted into scoring territory from the one to put the finishing touches on a 45-yard Quaker move after intercepting a UP pass. Lou Jackson added the point from placement.

Denny Roth, the Perks' left half, dashed 55 yards on a single wing reverse in the first period for his team's lone score.

UP was down within the five yard line twice in the third period, but failed to tally in both instances.

Troy Wins 16

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Undefeated Willie Troy, a 20-year-old middleweight prospect from Washington, ran his winning streak to 16 tonight by stopping Randy Sandy of New York in 39 seconds of the tenth and last round at St. Nicholas Arena. Troy, a 2 to 1 favorite, outweighed his rival 154½ to 151½.

Maglie Wins 18th

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP) — Sal Maglie and Hoyt Wilhelm collaborated to shut out the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-0, on six hits before 1,584 fans at the Polo Grounds today.

Maglie, in winning his 18th game against eight losses, gave up all of the Phillies' hits in the seven innings he worked. Wilhelm retired six men in the last two frames. It was the rookie reliefer's 70th appearance.

SHILLINGTON

getting 19 of them on five rushes.

It must have been a pre-game order from Shillington's coach Joe Firing to stick primarily to the ground game, for although moving overland was oftimes slow, tedious and/or resultless, the airways proved open for unlimited exploration.

There wasn't an Admiral Byrd around for the hosts, evidently.

Four of Steffey's chucks out of six landed in safe arms, three for first downs and for a total of 52 yards. The fact that the Speedies didn't pass more was probably a big reason why things didn't get further out of hand that one touchdown.

SHILLINGTON threatened only two more times over the course of the ball game. In the second period a fumble by Stipa was recovered by guard Bob Downey on the SC 32 and from there a Steffey to Frank Johnson pass gave them a first on the 20.

A running pass to the right on second down from Steffey to Bruce Daniels got another first on the nine, but the hustling Bucs held on downs.

In the fourth period, the Speedies came close again. A reverse with Johnson carrying around left end netted 15 yards to the Buc 21, but it came on fourth down and didn't quite get enough yardage for a restart.

A recovered fumble on the first play of the game gave the Pirates the ball on the Speedies' 43. Joe Edwards fumbled it right back to Shillington on the next play, and the Bucs weren't past the 50 for the rest of the evening.

They got up to their own 43 late in the first quarter before stalling out, and in the second half the farthest they could advance was when Stipa's 15-yard romp around the flank got it out to the 48.

A fumble stopped that young drive.

Which way

do you look at things?

Whether you see eye-to-eye with Adlai or Ike, one thing is certain:

From now till November 4th, you'll want to know how they look at all the big issues . . .

Europe . . . Korea . . . taxes . . . controls . . . income . . . all the problems that reach into your daily life here in our town.

And to help you weigh each candidate day by day as each issue comes to light—you turn to The Mercury. Just as you've turned to it daily for dozens of other reasons.

For the latest facts . . . for goings-on in Pottstown and its trading area, in our state, our entire world . . . to see what's for fun and what's for sale. Not only what—but where and when and how much it costs.

And in The Mercury we read all about it . . . or only as much as we want. We read any time we choose—any place we choose.

That's why nearly everybody reads The Mercury nearly every day.

That's why so many people who sell advertised products insist that they be advertised in The Mercury.

Because in The Mercury an advertising message has a chance to reach all people who can buy. Not just sports fans or quiz fans or music fans or comedy fans . . . but everybody.

That's why all advertisers—both "national" and retail—invest more money in The Mercury than in any other form of advertising.

The Mercury is first with the most news . . . . . first with the most people . . . first with the most advertisers.

The Mercury is always "first with the most"

Sunday School Teachers to Be Honored Tonight

Two teachers of Spring City First Evangelical and Reformed Sunday school will be honored tonight with 15 others from Chester county for 50 years Sunday school work at the final meeting of Chester county Sabbath school association convention.

The meeting will be held in Olivet Methodist church, Coatesville, opening with a Youth rally at 8 o'clock.

Local teachers to be honored are Harry C. Marshall, 532 New street, general superintendent of the Spring City Reformed Sunday school, and H. Emmett Latschar, Spring City RD 1. Latschar is superintendent of the county group.

The schedule also includes a session this afternoon at 2 o'clock and a banquet tonight at 5:45 o'clock, preceding the night meeting.

Speakers will be Dr. Melvin Forney, Philadelphia; Ira Sassaman, general secretary of the State Sabbath school association, and A. Myfanwy Roberts, State association children's worker.

Hospital Notes

Richard L. Slifer, Spring City, was admitted to Phoenixville hospital.

Mrs. Franklin Petiet, Royersford, and Mrs. Harlan McVeigh, Spring City, were discharged.

GE Rejects Strike Ultimatum of Union

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—The General Electric company said today it had rejected a strike ultimatum from the CIO International union of Electrical Workers and told the union to go ahead and strike.

The union claims about 71,000 employes in 60 General Electric plants.

Although the union had said earlier today that it was canceling strike votes set for next Monday, a spokesman later made it clear that nearly all IUE employes in the plants had already taken strike votes.

Government to Act In Florida Jail Case, Using Federal Law

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Attorney General McGranery today announced the return of Federal indictments against four employes of Florida state prison camps for alleged mistreatment of prisoners.

The indictments were returned by a US grand jury at Tallahassee this afternoon, McGranery said.

The jury acted under the Federal civil rights statutes which prohibit the depriving of rights protected by the constitution.

Upon conviction, such offenses are punishable by a fine of $1000 or one year imprisonment, or both.

The Attorney General said he had been advised the grand jury also made "a presentment to the court decrying conditions in the Florida state prison camps."

THOSE INDICTED, the Justice department said, were: James Sheldon Walker, captain of state prison camp number 8540, Bronson, Fla., on 28 counts.

O. Clyde Markham, a guard at the same camp, on four counts.

Leamon L. Parrish, captain in charge of state prison camp number 8528 near Gainesville, on 17 counts.

Albert R. Ballot, on one count for alleged offenses at the Bronson camp and on five counts for alleged offenses at the camp near Gainesville, while a guard at those camps.

Erie Drivers Return After 45-Day Strike

ERIE, Sept. 26 (AP) — Some 255 drivers and maintenance men of the Erie Coach company accepted a 15-cent-an-hour wage hike today to end a 45-day-old strike of this port city's only public transportation system.

The workers, members of the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, struck Aug. 12 to back up demands for pay increases and improved working conditions.

The new pact provides a 10 cent increase retroactive to May 1, a two cent hike retroactive to June 15 and three cents additional Jan. 1, 1953. Present wage scales were not disclosed.

Perryopolis Allowed To Use Inheritance

UNIONTOWN, Sept. 26 (AP) — The little mining village of Perryopolis today hurdled the last big obstacle blocking use of its 1½ million dollar inheritance.

After a long court fight, Judge S. John Morrow of Fayette county granted the town of about 1500 a borough form of government. Now an elected government body can put the money to work.

Mrs. Mary Frazier, widow of a coal mine operator, left the money to her native community when she died in Philadelphia in 1948 at the age of 83. Her will provided half would go for civic improvements and half for upkeep of the town. A hastily-formed Perryopolis Community Planning association moved to incorporate the village.

State Pledges Action On Mental Asylum

HARRISBURG, Sept. 26 (AP)—William C. Brown, secretary of welfare, said today financing of a new institution for mental defectives in Pennsylvania rests entirely with the General State authority.

"This project is considered one of the most important by the Governor and the Department of Welfare and if funds are available will be pushed with all possible speed," he said in a statement.

Some 40 sites throughout Pennsylvania have been surveyed for locating the institutions, Brown added. A site recommendation will be made to Gov. John S. Fine shortly.

State Legislature to Get Bail Licensing Proposal

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26 (AP)—A state-wide licensing system to fix fees of professional bail bondsmen was proposed today by District Attorney James F. Malone.

He said he will introduce the measure at the next legislature, Malone added:

"We have found that persons not accustomed to dealing with professional bondsmen have been subjected to exorbitant charges because of the lack of knowledge in such affairs."

Impact of Vast Locust Plague Expected to Jolt United States

The Destroyer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—The Biblical scourge of the locust is abroad in the world again, and insect-fighters fear this is the worst plague year in a century.

With the entire food supply of countries from Africa through Asia Minor to Asia threatened, and the Chinese mobilizing to save what they can of their grain crops, it is feared here that a million human beings are doomed to die of starvation and the impact on world politics may be great.

The United States is not expected to escape the blight entirely, because the grasshopper, which is the Canadian and United States counterpart of the desert locusts and one of the world's four major species of the insect, threatens millions of dollars' worth of damage.

ARMED WITH the most potent insecticides ever trained on the locusts and added knowledge of an amazing creature with a "Dr. Jeckyl and Mr. Hyde" personality, an army of insect-fighters is waging all-out war to hold the menace as nearly within bounds as possible.

It is a staggering task. Observers returning from the battle sectors report that the Biblical account of the plague of the Pharoahs is as good a description today as it was 4000 years ago: ". . . they (locusts) covered the face of the whole earth, so that the land was darkened; and they did eat every herb of the land and all the fruit of the trees which the hail had left; and there remained not any green thing in the trees, or in the herbs of the field. . ."

Massing in flights covering as many as 2000 square miles, locusts fly for more than a thousand miles. They literally work themselves into a frenzy of excitement and, according to entomologists, become veritable "flying stomachs."

United Nations efforts, through its Food and Agriculture organization, are headed by Dr. Clearhos Logothetis, world famous entomologist, who remembers vividly the day when a horde of locusts descended upon his father's tobacco farm in Central Macedonia and by sundown had devoured everything edible.

In the Middle East and next to Iran, Russian planes are assisting in the large-scale spraying of aldrin, the chlorinated hydrocarbon related to DDT which constitutes the major new anti-locust chemical weapon.

OLDER METHODS with a new twist also are being used. Millions of locusts are herded into gullies, where flame throwers burn them to a crisp. Thinking of future years, workers are destroying tons of eggs left by the insects.

Meanwhile, scientists are probing into the personal lives of these insect villains, and have discovered their amazing dual personalities.

If they are not overpopulated, they live quietly and while they devour great quantities of cereals, they do not swarm and annihilate entire crops.

In this "solitary phase," the insects adjust their color to their surroundings, do not congregate, have low appetites and are sluggish. Overcrowd them, as in a heavy breeding cycle or in a drought which makes food scarce, they become "gregarious" and change completely.

THEIR COLOR turns black and yellow; their appetites skyrocket; they become active and nervous; their temperatures rise, and they swarm viciously. "It is like the effect of a wild uncontrolled mob," an entomologist explains.

Even grasshoppers can act this way, and there is concern here that this might be a plague year in the western states. However, it is explained that the 13-year and 17-year locusts, which are familiar to the United States, ironically are not part of this drama.

They are periodical cicada with an amazing life history from egg to insect stretching over more than a decade, but are not part of the grim drama staged by their cousins who currently threaten the world's bread basket.

Continue to check cabbage and broccoli plants for lice. These pests frequently put in a late appearance and do much damage to the plants during the last few weeks of the growing season.

Vegetables should not be washed if they are to be stored for the winter.

Turkey Growers Show Interest in Breeding Plans

Pennsylvania turkey growers who are breeding turkeys or producing turkey hatching eggs are planning to have available artificial insemination services for their turkeys in 1953.

County Agent R. G. Waltz says much interest is shown in this project. George Anthony, Strausstown, Berks county, president of the Pennsylvania State Poultry federation, has appointed Roy Heckenluber, Biglerville, Adams county, temporary chairman of a committee to organize this service.

The committee plans to survey the problems of infertility that are connected with the production of hatching eggs. H. H. Kauffman, poultry extension specialist, Pennsylvania State college, will discuss some of the commercial possibilities of artificial insemination in turkeys.

Dr. Morley G. McCartney, poultry physiologist at the college, will discuss the technical procedures involved in those services. Joe S. Taylor, Penn State extension dairy specialist, will attend as a consultant on phases that are common to both turkey and dairy insemination services.

Dauphin county agent A. S. Frommeyer, Harrisburg, is in charge of local arrangements.

FERTILITY IN turkey eggs has become a major problem in the production of hatching eggs and poults, particularly of the Broad Breasted types, and also in other turkeys where hatching eggs are produced out of season.

The county agent says artificial insemination can help to reduce the infertility factor.

Farm Seed Growing Is No Simple Task

Many things that add to better living and increased prosperity are accepted without much thought to "how they got that way." Take farm seeds, for example.

Field seedsmen handle the largest part of farm seeds. The tonnage of some items is tremendous, and each has to be handled according to its special needs.

Each year some 125 million pounds of alfalfa seed, 175 million lespedeza, 100 million red clover, 50 million sweetclover, 60 million timothy, 25 million bluegrass, plus many more millions of other grass and legume seeds are harvested and cleaned.

Most all of this seed reaches the seed processor containing weedseeds, noxious and otherwise, some easy to detect, others hidden from the untrained eye.

INTRICATE CLEANING machinery of various kinds, employing a number of different principles, is in use under trained men in the modern seed plant, to perform daily miracles of separating the good seed from the weeds and worthless material.

PREMIER CORN CRIBS

Increase the quality and feeding value of corn or hay by proper storing and curing. Prevent losses due to fire caused by spontaneous combustion. This all-steel, prefabricated-at-factory corn crib is an economical answer to the demand for additional crib space. Fabricated from angle and bar steel into sturdy, rigid, long-lasting structures.

Ideal for farm operators who find it necessary to move crib location periodically; yet lends itself to a permanent installation. This new type of steel-ribbed construction gives feed protection against the weather and provides ample ventilation for curing and drying.

Heavy gauge galvanized steel roof ventilator is furnished, and ventilator sections as well as drag tunnel are available when wanted.

When shelling corn, most of the Scooping, otherwise necessary, may be eliminated by placing the sheller drags in the ventilating channel, if used.

Cribs may also be used for small grains such as oats, beans, corn, etc. by lining inside with Sisalkraft paper. Not more than 1000 bushels of small grain should be stored in any size crib.

Rainfall Average For Week Tops Normal in State

HARRISBURG, Sept. 26 (AP)—Rainfall in western Pennsylvania topped normal for the first time in five weeks, the State Agriculture department reported today.

A Federal-State weather and crop survey showed rains in western Pennsylvania for the week ending yesterday ranged up to 3.2 inches, while the State average was 1.26 inches. The State average was nearly a half inch above normal for the week.

The report said much of the State's corn acreage has matured and is already being harvested in some localities. Cutting for ensilage is complete in some areas. In many areas planting of barley was near completion and fields that are up were reported doing well. Wheat planting is on schedule, the survey showed.

The department said potato prices showed a decline as additional quantities of late varieties reached markets. In many fields yield and quality is only fair. Digging advanced in southern counties.

EARLY CUT tobacco is curing satisfactorily, the report indicated.

Rains hindered hay drying and caused some deterioration of alfalfa, clover, and soybean hay. The condition of pasture grasses was reported as normal for this season last year.

The department said that harvesting has advanced in Red Delicious and Jonathon apples, while grape harvesting has progressed in the Erie fruit belt.

Late varieties of peaches still remained to be picked though the harvest was nearly over this week.

MOVEMENTS TO tomato canneries continued in some areas, though harvesting declined in some localities. The development of tomatoes was affected by weather conditions and quality is generally only fair.

As marketing increased in Danish cabbage prices dropped.

Fall Is Best Season To Improve Lawns

Fall is the best time to improve the lawn, reminds County Agent R. G. Waltz.

The lawn may need lime if none has been applied recently. In case of doubt, the county agent will test a soil sample for lime requirements without charge.

If needed, lime may be applied any time, but September is the best month for adding fertilizer. Fifteen to 20 pounds of a complete garden fertilizer, such as 5-10-5, per 1000 square feet should suffice.

Keep mowing the grass while it continues to grow, to avoid matting, but avoid cutting it shorter than 1½ inches.

Lime Not Always Best For Removing of Moss

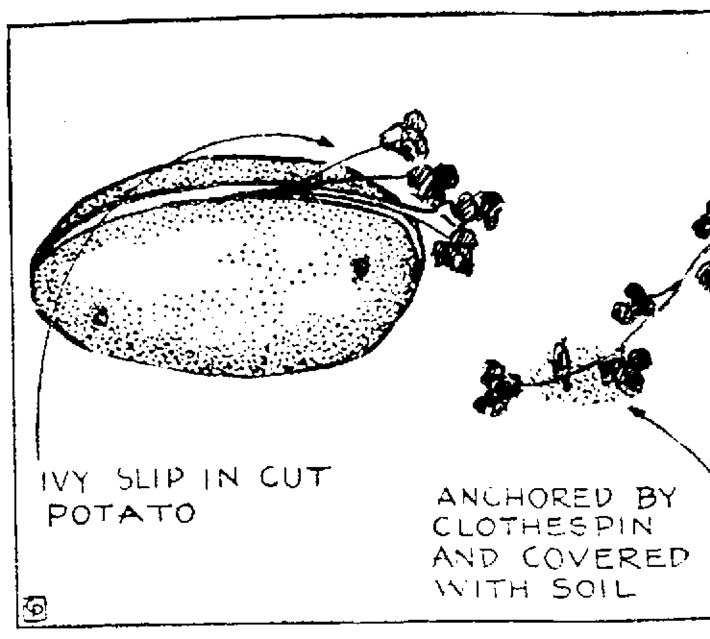

Many gardeners hasten to add lime to the soil when they notice moss growing in the lawn. The soil may or may not be acid.

The moss often is due to a lack of nutrition and what the soil really needs is feeding with a good fertilizer.

Do not leave cull apples or other wormy fruits on the ground under trees through the winter. Rake them up and dispose of them. This method of sanitation is a most effective way to keep brown rot of plums and grapes under control.

Late crops which seem to be lagging can be boosted along considerably by an extra feeding of plant food. The quickest results are obtained when the plant food is used in liquid form.

Graph for Gardening

Ivy for House and Garden

Fashions in ivy keep changing due to the fact that many new varieties are developed from time to time, while some of the very old types regain their popularity.

For example, a new demand for these foliage plants has come about because of the vogue for small hardy plants to set on window shelves.

Many gardeners make collections of ivies for house and garden use. In the accompanying Garden-Graph is shown a handy method of collecting slips of new ivies seen when traveling.

Cut a potato in half and place the ivy cutting inside. Wrap the halves of the potato together in a piece of waxed paper and place it in your traveling case. When you get home plant the ivy cutting as usual.

Most of the many kinds of ivy can be propagated by cuttings or layering. The Garden-Graph shows a simple method of layering. Cover a section of vine close to the tip end with loose, friable soil and keep it moist.

It is advisable to hold the branch in position with a clothes pin, as illustrated. After the stem is rooted it can be cut off, or divided if the root growth is suitable and planted.

Hedera helix, or English Ivy, withstands the continual shade of the north side of buildings perhaps better than any other ground cover. This ivy, if planted at wide intervals, requires two seasons to fill a space.

If you have good plantings of ivy outdoors you can cut shoots about two feet long in September and place the bases in water indoors. They will root readily and remain in good condition for several months.

Expert Says 'Shun Bargains' in Trees

You don't usually buy clothes unless you're reasonably sure they'll fit. Neither should you buy trees unless you're pretty sure they'll fit into your landscape scheme. And that's not so easy!

Take it on the authority of W. C. Lauck, field representative of one tree company, the best time to select your new trees is right now . . . while they're still in leaf.

September marks the start of the Fall shopping and planting season. Lauck says you will save yourself headaches, possibly some money, too, when you patronize the reputable nurserymen or tree care concern, even if you have to call the local Chamber of Commerce or Better Business Bureau to find him.

The "bargains" offered from dubious sources usually turn out just the opposite, he emphasizes.

AREA COW TAKES TEST

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., September 27—With 556 pounds of butterfat and 14,442 pounds of milk testing 3.9 percent to her credit, Manormead De Kol Pontiac, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Elmer Stoltzfus, Yellow House, Pennsylvania, has completed a 339-day production test in official Herd Improvement Registry.

If Oriental poppies look brown at this time, don't worry — they are merely dormant and in fine condition for transplanting.

Many native plants such as camassias, mertensias, bloodroots and phloxes can be secured and planted now.

Pasture Contest Won By Columbia Farmer

The champion pasture for 1952 in Pennsylvania is owned by Richard Dietterick, Berwick RD 2, Columbia county. Dietterick's pasture won the State award over 709 pastures entered in 50 counties in the 1952 Green Pastures contest sponsored by the Production and Marketing administration.

The young progressive Columbia county farmer and his wife operate a highly productive grassland dairy farm of approximately 50 acres. Some corn and small grains are grown, but most of the land is in grasses and legumes for hay and pasture.

The sixteen head of dairy cattle are furnished excellent grazing from early May until late October by seven acres of pastures seeded with a mixture of bromegrass, blue grass, red and ladino clovers.

His pasture is divided into four plots of equal size and the dairy herd is rotated weekly. Each time the herd was moved from a grazed plot to a fresh plot, the grazed pasture was clipped.

LIME IS APPLIED to his pastures as needed and 0-20-20 fertilizer applied each year.

The high production of excellent grasses and legumes, the freedom from weeds, the excellent management and fertilization program, and the good balance of pasture acreage, use of the pasture in grazing and general results from his outstanding pasture program brought Dietterick the highly coveted State award for Pennsylvania in 1952.

The Ladino, brome, and orchard grass pasture owned by Dale D. Kilgore of Woodbine, York county, was outstanding in production and general pasture management.

The pastures of Wayne M. Walker, New Galilee, Lawrence county, and James M. Rodgers, McVeytown, Mifflin county, were judged as third and fourth place winners in the State contest.

These four progressive farmers developed their improved pastures through their cooperation with the Agricultural Conservation program.

The annual Green Pastures contest is sponsored by the County Production and Marketing administration committees in an effort to have farmers improve the two million acres of land now in pasture so that dairy products, veal, beef, pork, and poultry products can be produced in greater quantities, more efficiently and economically.

Improved pastures are also one of the most effective ways of controlling soil and water losses due to erosion.

The top pastures were judged by three large dairy farm operators.

Chester Farmer Is 'Marvel' at Conserving Soil

Conservation farming is contagious—it grows and spreads—and this is a healthy sign for Chester county.

Evidence of this was apparent recently when P. Herman Marvel, with assistance from William Hannigan of the Soil Conservation service, developed a conservation plan for his farm located at the quarry south of Kaolin.

This makes the third Marvel farm to be developed into a conservation farm. His two sons, Joshua and Robert, operating two farms down by Pennocks bridge, south of West Grove, have been working with the Chester County Soil Conservation district for four years in establishing conservation on their farms. They have been establishing contour strip cropping, developing sod waterways, seeding areas to perennial hay, improving pasture and planting trees.

Evergreens can be transplanted now for this time the growing tips have matured. Water them thoroughly after moving.

Officials' Faces Red Over Pink Bollworm

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Agriculture department this week issued a press statement about the pink bollworm—a cotton crop insect pest—that later caused official faces to turn red.

After reporting that this insect had been found in ten Texas counties not previously infested, the department gave this evaluation of the situation:

"Cotton insects specialists of the Department's Bureau of entomology and Plant Quarantine estimate that damage by the pink bollworm to the 1952 cotton crop in this country will be more than its total damage in the last 35 years."

This information reached the nation's cotton markets before the close. Prices shot up and closed the day from $1.25 to $2.50 a bale higher. Traders apparently had interpreted the statement to mean that an already disappointing cotton crop had been reduced further by the bollworm.

WHEN PRESSED for clarification of the statement, embarrassed officials said they could not give any figures—either in dollars or in bales or in pounds—on the "total damage" caused by the insection in the last 35 years.

Neither could they give an estimate on the extent of the damage this year.

They said that the comparison of the damage this year with the past was based upon observation of specailists in the field.

At any rate, officials said, the statement had not meant to imply that new and additional damage had been discovered.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

X Z Y D D Q H I D Q T J T W N A T I Z R Z E
X T N I P. Y B K D Y O B Z I, X Z R F Z O R F Z O D
T X O Y D I J E W N I D P—I T S D I B E D

BEEF CATTLE FOR SALE

Have sold out of all cattle on hand and expect a new lot of over 300 head to arrive this week, either Herefords or Angus heifers and steers, which will consist of over 100 head of calves weighing from 300 to 400 pounds. Just right to start now and make 1,000 pound cattle next year.

Also will have over 150 cattle weighing from 400 to 600 pounds. They are just right to keep for breeders or fatten for market in the early winter.

Balance will be cattle weighing from 600 to 900 pounds that will do for the feed lot this fall.

Anyone interested in good beef cattle to make money on should come and look these cattle over.

I have sold over 3,000 head of these kind of cattle since January 1st, to over 300 satisfied customers, and expect to sell more than that many the balance of this year. So if you have pasture, why not buy a few of these good cattle and watch them grow and make money for you? It looks like cattle will be high for a long time to come.

All cattle I handle are treated for shipping fever and delivered free of charge within 100 miles. Will take your dairy and fat cattle in trade and allow you a good price for them.

Also can arrange to pasture at a small cost to you any number you wish to buy.

I have rented the Normandy Farms, at Norristown, and have over 400 acres of the finest pastures. They have a four-rail fence and plenty of water and shade. I'm sure your cattle will do good there. Also have over 300 acres pasture to rent here in Chadds Ford. So why wait? Why not come and see some real good cattle that are priced lower than any other cattle of the same quality in the state of Pennsylvania?

There must be a reason why I have sold over 18,000 beef cattle in the last 12 years and last year was the biggest year I ever had.

I expect to receive over 200 cattle each week for the balance of this year and I expect to price them so they will move out in that order.

Stevenson to Bare 'Fund'

Says Recipients, Donors To Be Made Public Soon

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 26 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson did a right-about-face today and said he plans to make public the names of both the recipients and the donors to his pay-supplementing fund for Illinois state officials.

The Democratic Presidential nominee, under fire from Republicans insisting that he name names, told newsmen about his decision as he left Springfield, Ill., this morning for speeches in Evansville and Indianapolis.

Stevenson told a police-estimated, cheering crowd of about 4000 persons in front of the courthouse in Evansville that there can be no "bargain basement" peace.

And he rapped at Republicans, saying they have been promising budget and tax cuts out of line with the world situation.

The Illinois governor also struck verbally at Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, a Republican he says who has taken over the campaign of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP nominee for the White House.

"We don't want Senator Taft writing our labor laws," Stevenson declared.

"And I don't want him conducting our foreign affairs."

Stevenson was flying from Evansville to Indianapolis, where he was scheduled for a major address tonight (10 p. m. Pottstown time) on the subject of economy in government.

As for the Illinois fund, which Stevenson set up to supplement the pay of key state officials, Stevenson on Wednesday in Baltimore, Md., rejected demands that he name the beneficiaries of the fund.

Later he also declined to name the donors, but he said he was going to get in touch with them.

THE GOVERNOR said then that, without supplementary salary, some Illinois officials could not have afforded to leave private employment.

But naming them, Stevenson said at the time, would subject them to publicity they didn't deserve and would amount to a "breach of faith on my part."

He spoke out against the background of Eisenhower's assertion that the general's GOP running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, had completely vindicated himself regarding his use of an $18,000 political expense fund.

Republicans immediately began demanding that Stevenson follow Nixon's example and make an accounting of the Illinois fund.

Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, Eisenhower's political chief of staff, said it looked as though Stevenson had "something to hide."

AT THE SPRINGFIELD airport this morning, newsmen reminded Stevenson that his campaign manager, Wilson Wyatt, said yesterday the governor was planning a further statement on the controversial fund.

Stevenson said that was right, and then added he already had "contacted most of the people" but there are so many it is difficult to reach them all.

In reply to a question, the governor explained he was talking about contributions to the fund.

He said he had been in touch with all the state officials who were aided from the fund. He completed that job last night, he said, adding that it was easier to reach them than the contributors.

A reporter then asked whether the governor was getting in touch with the recipients and the beneficiaries with a view to making their names public.

STEVENSON replied that was right. He said he was planning to put out the information in a statement just as quickly as possible and that he might also deal with it in a speech.

In response to another question, Stevenson said he didn't recall exactly how many state officials received money from the fund, but he thought there were eight or nine.

The governor has said the fund was started from a balance left over from his 1948 campaign for governor. General contributions have been added since that time, he said.

Hermon Dunlop Smith (left), Chicago insurance executive, said in a statement that he turned in between $500 and $1000 to Gov. Adlai Stevenson's special fund that was donated by "two or three" of the governor's close friends who wished to remain impersonal. Justice Walter V. Schaefer (right) of the Illinois Supreme Court acknowledged receiving a $500 Christmas check from Gov. Adlai Stevenson while serving in a non-salaried state committee post before his appointment to the court.

Pravda Attack May Cause Recall of US Envoy to Soviet Union

MOSCOW, Sept. 26 (AP) — A blistering attack by Pravda today raised a question as to the future status of Ambassador George Kennan as the American envoy to Russia.

Pravda, organ of the Communist party and the highest journalistic authority in the Soviet Union, charged Kennan with conduct improper to an ambassador and said he was a "slanderer disguised as a diplomat."

The assault on the 48-year-old expert on Russian affairs, who took up his post here less than five months ago, was the result of an interview he gave reporters at Berlin, Sept. 19 while en route to a London meeting of US diplomatic chiefs. He was quoted as saying that Soviet-American relations had sunk to an "icy cold" level, and compared the situation of American diplomats in Moscow now with that of interned US Americans in Berlin in 1941-42 during the war.

"Had the Nazis permitted us to walk the streets without having any right to talk to any Germans that would be precisely how we have to live today in Moscow," he was quoted.

(KENNAN REFUSED in London Friday to comment on the Pravda attack. In Washington, US Secretary of State Acheson said the Pravda attack was wholly unjustified. He said Kennan had given a calm and accurate description of what life is like in Moscow.)

Pravda's attack, signed by "Observer" and given a prominent place on the third page, said Kennan was:

An "ecstatic liar."

A violator of elementary rules obligatory for diplomats.

Seeking to worsen Soviet-American relations rather than improve them.

Recommending himself as an enemy of peace, and thus of the Soviet Union.

GUILTY OF slanderous fabrications, crude anti-Soviet attacks, malicious hostility and obvious nonsense.

As a result of these sharp words it appeared that an official Soviet request for Kennan's recall was not beyond the realm of possibility.

But the fact that Soviet displeasure was aired publicly in Pravda, made it appear doubtful that the Russians would take that course.

On the other hand, observers pointed out, the unusualness of the attack may cause Kennan to take action himself if he feels his usefulness is at an end here.

Once before an American ambassador here was severely criticized in the Soviet press. This was in the early part of World War II when Adm. William Standley was ambassador. At a news conference he had accused the Russians of not appreciating American lend-lease. The resulting attacks in the Soviet press were not as withering as those in Pravda today.

STANDLEY DID not resign and the Russians did not ask for his recall. But it was not long until Standley was replaced by W. Averell Harriman.

Ambassador Kennan is due back in Moscow Oct. 4 in time for the all-union Communist party congress. His wife and two younger children are in Moscow.

Truman Hits Critics Of UN as 'Hysterical'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)— President Truman said today there is an increasing attempt by "old isolationists" to undermine the United Nations "and to turn back in our onward march toward peace."

Naming no names, he said attacks on the UN have grown bolder since the death of former Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan Republican who often worked closely with the administration on foreign policy.

"The old isolationists have grown bolder," Truman said in a talk in the White House Rose garden to the National Citizens committee for United Nations Day.

"They are urging us to abandon our allies, to pull out of Europe and out of Korea, to slash our mutual security program and to turn back in our onward march toward peace."

HE SAID the American people must withstand "the efforts of those who would play politics with security and the welfare of our nation and the freedom of our Allies," and he added:

"The world problems we face are not ordinary ones. They are not — and must not become — questions of party politics. They involve not only the fate of our own nation but the future hopes and aspirations of mankind."

Truman accused those he said are trying to undermine the UN of giving "hysterical and conflicting advice," and he declared:

"This attack on the United Nations offers us no plan for the future and no hope for eventual success.

"The enemies of the United Nations tell us one day to pull out of Korea — and on the next day they tell us to extend the conflict even further.

"THEY ASK us to reduce our defenses and at the same time to take steps that create a greater risk of total war.

"They lament the loss of millions of people to Communist enslavement and yet at the same time they recommend that we should cut off aid to those who are still free."

The committee before which Truman spoke, composed of representatives of more than 100 national organizations, was set up to work toward public support of the UN.

French Pay Homage To Dead Sub Crew

TOULON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Units of the French navy today passed in memorial review over the spot where the submarine Sibylle is presumed to have sunk with its 48 crew members.

While the navy was rendering last honors, several Paris newspapers quoted a letter from one of the men in the crew that the Sibylle had had difficulties on its previous voyage.

The letter, written 48 hours before the submarine went out on maneuvers and failed to surface after a routine plunge, said the Sibylle had remained underwater for 40 minutes when the controls failed to respond.

Radiation Device May Be Key to Atomic Defense

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Navy today unveiled a powerful hit-and-run radiation device and said it would help speed research towards finding better defenses against atomic bomb rays.

It's a mechanical, remote-control robot in which a relatively-cheap substitute for radium can be shot through pneumatic tubes, like a cash carrier in a department store. These "cartridges" of radioactive material can bring powerful atomic rays to bear uniformly on the entire body of a test animal for any desired length of time—and then be automatically withdrawn.

The device employs a quantity of radioactive cobalt costing about $6000—but having the ray-emitting power of approximately $24,000,000 worth of radium, or more than half the world's supply of the latter.

The instrument — called a "Gamma Ray Generator" — gives off "gamma" radiation, the farthest-reaching of the highly-penetrating rays given off by the explosion of an A-bomb.

SCIENTISTS of the Naval Medical Research institute said the new device provides, for the first time, a handy, and rather inexpensive means of irradiating the whole body of a test animal in a uniform way—roughly analagous to the way a man standing in the open near an A-bomb blast would be affected.

They told reporters better understanding of the effects of radiation on the entire body—as distinguished from effects on a given part— might lead to better means of treating "radiation sickness," and perhaps even lead to means of defending the body against these sometimes lethal rays.

In the new device, caged animals—as small as mice or as big as goats and pigs—can be so placed that they are entirely surrounded by tubes containing the cartridges of radioactivity cobalt.

TERE ARE 60 of these things, 17 feet long and 1'a inches in diameter, arranged in the form of three concentric circles so that there is a hollow space for the "target" animals.

The tubes stretch into two separate "exposure" rooms, seperated from each other by a concrete barrier. But the radioactive "hot-stuff" can be shot from one room into another by automatic means — thus enabling one test to be set up in one room while another is in progress in the other room.

Since even one of the cobalt cartridges would give you a serious radiation burn if you held it in your hand for a minute — and even at a distance of a foot would give you a burn in five minutes—scientists can not remain in either room while the radioactive cobalt is on that side.

Elaborate concrete barriers barriers protect each room — and an ingenious remote control instrument is used to transfer the cobalt cartridges from shipping containers into the new device.

Sabres Down 4 MIGs To Bring Monthly UN Total to Record 56

SEOUL, Saturday, Sept. 27 (AP)—Sharp-shooting Sabre jets destroyed four Communist MIGs and damaged four more Friday, boosting the number of Red jet planes shot down this month to a new high of 56, the Air Force announced.

Clearing Autumn skies brought out the first MIGs in four days, but the Sabres had to fly high to engage them.

Snarling dogfigts raged almost seven miles high east of Sinuiju on the Yalu river frontier of Manchuria.

This battle brought the September box score of MIG's to 56 destroyed, six probably destroyed and 51 reported damaged. One of Friday's damage claims was not officially confirmed. For the month, three other destruction claims and two damage claims are pending.

PREVIOUSLY THE best monthly score was last April when Allied airmen downed 41 Red jets and three propeller-driven fighters for a total of 44.

Lt. Cecil C. Foster, San Antonio, Tex., shot down two of the four MIGs Friday. He has a total of three destroyed.

Allied losses for the day, if any, will be announced in a week-end summary.

Reports that a deadly new "gimmick" was aiding Sabre pilots in their MIG hunts have not been confirmed, although an Air Force spokesman conceded the device was in the Korean war theater.

Acheson Denies Korea Excluded In Defense Area

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today of misquoting him and "torturing the facts" about administration policy toward the defense of Korea.

In a speech at Cincinnati Sept. 22, Eisenhower said that five months before the Reds attacked in Korea Acheson had "declared that America's so-called defensive perimeter excluded areas on the Asiatic mainland such as Korea."

Eisenhower suggested that this invited the 1950 Communist onslaught on Korea. Eisenhower held that the decision to defend Korea when the attack occurred was inescapable but he said it was "the incompetence of political leaders which made military action necessary."

Acheson declared in a statement that he used no language excluding Korea.

"I CANNOT believe," Acheson said, "General Eisenhower now means to imply that Korea should have been included by me within the defensive perimeter and that it should have been manned by American troops.

"Certainly, as chief of staff of the Army, his opinion was quite to the contrary and wholly in accordance with the statement I made."

Acheson noted that after the second World War the last American occupation troops were withdrawn from Korea in 1949. He said the decision to pull them out was made two years earlier—when Eisenhower was chief of staff—and was based on military considerations.

They'll Campaign Hand-in-Hand

Sen. Richard Nixon and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower clasp hands in a dramatic reunion at Wheeling, W. Va. Airport. In a stirring address before a cheering crowd at City Stadium, Ike stated that Nixon, subjected "to a very unfair and vicious attack," had been "completely vindicated" by the GOP National Committee.

Crowds in Southland 'Amaze' Touring Ike

ABOARD THE EISENHOWER SPECIAL, Sept. 26 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower drove his presidential campaign through North Carolina and Virginia today calling on roaring crowds to cancel out the Democrats' "political mortgage" on the South.

He said he "was amazed" by the size of crowds that turned out to hear him.

It was his second appeal for Dixie support in less than a month—and the windup of a 12-day, 12-state tour that will end tonight with a speech in Richmond, Va.

Throngs turned out at each stop to give him the same warm welcome he received early this month in Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Arkansas.

EISENHOWER MADE his first formal bid for North Carolina's 14 electoral votes with a speech before an estimated 18,000 people jammed into Memorial stadium at Charlotte.

But his first informal appearance in the state with Mrs. Eisenhower came at Salisbury—where both stood on the train platform in dressing robes and pajamas.

A police-estimated crowd of 25,000 cheered the GOP candidate through the streets of Charlotte to the stadium. And Eisenhower immediately opened fire on the Democratic hold on the southland.

He said his political mentors had warned him not to campaign in the South because "the whole country is mortgaged to one political group and you are merely wasting your time."

HE WENT on to say he operated on the principle that each section of the nation was owned by the people—and "I was going to recognize no political mortgage of any kind."

"I am quite sure," he added, if some of those people who feel that they have held those mortgages in Washington could see this crowd this morning, they would begin to look at their paper and see if someone had cancelled out the debt."

Then he launched into an assault on the administration, hitting at "failure to bring peace"—"dissipation of our prestige and power abroad"—"extravagant spending"—"Deficits"—"scandals".

"Scandals," he said, 'of the kind that make us hang our heads in shame."

World News Briefs

Turks Report Raid

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 26 (AP)—Turkish press reports tonight said Bulgarian border guards wounded a Turkish soldier with gunfire on the frontier and kidnaped another Turkish soldier today. The latter was reported taken across the border into Bulgaria.

The incident was reported near Kalikoy village in Kirkareli province, where the Turks were cutting wood.

'Saboteurs' Jailed

VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Bucharest radio said today 20 farmers at Secas in western Romania received prison sentences of up to 12 years for failure to deliver crops to state authorities. The radio said the farmers were "saboteurs" of Communist Romania's state-directed agricultural program.

Paper Goes Republican

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Sept. 26 (AP)—The Free Lance-Star announced today that it will support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for President.

It was the first time in its 67-year history that the newspaper has supported a Republican candidate. In 1948 it gave editorial backing to the States Right Party.

Appeal Made

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26 (AP)—Harmar Drive-In theater appealed to the Pennsylvania Supreme court today a decision of the Common Pleas court refusing a picketing injunction against the AFL Soft Drink Workers.

The theater in nearby Harmarville contends pickets are striking Penn Sportservice, a concessionaire, and not the theater.

Arguments will be heard in November.

Warwick High Dance Attended by Over 100

More than 100 pupils and teachers of Warwick High school attended the annual Sophomore dance at the school's auditorium last night.

The young high school pupils danced to the music of the Star Dusters, dance band of the school featuring Barbara Hardcastle as vocalist.

Chaperones of the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stofco and Sophia Lebaris, teachers at the school.

Prizes were awarded to Robert Bertolet, who waltzed around the dance floor with a broom; to Faye Ebersole and Joseph Noble, winners of the spot dance contest; and to Sandy Carpenter and Wilma Schacht, elimination dance winners.

Class officers who helped plan the dance were Jean McAfee, president; Barbara Hardcastle, vice president; Annette Prizer, secretary, and Charles Ewing, treasurer.

of spectators were thrown off their feet.

SHAKING HIS head as if somewhat dazed, Eisenhower rose quickly to his feet, dusted off his suit and grinned at the crowd.

"I'm not hurt," he told Knowland with a smile.

"Are you sure?" Knowland asked him.

"Yes, I'm all right," the General said.

The Republican Presidential nominee, who had been greeted and cheered vigorously by a crowd estimated at 25,000 persons jampacked on the capitol grounds, then walked with his entourage to his motorcade where he was whisked back to his campaign train.

Crash Unavoidable With Hit-Run Driver

An Elverson RD 1 motorist was unable to avoid collision with a hit-run driver early this morning when his old sedan blew a tire on Route 23, Coventryville.

David Lawrence was heading west on Route 23 when he tried to avoid an eastbound car. When he turned his car to the right in the bushes along the edge of the road, a front tire blew out and the two cars collided.

The unidentified motorist, driving a late model coupe, did not stop at the scene.

A front fender and hood of the Lawrence car were damaged. No one was injured. Lawrence's 1936 sedan was immobilized.

YOUR GEM STORY FOR TODAY

NEW — FOR CHRISTMAS

Each year, the leading jewelry and silver manufacturers bring to you new items to take their place alongside the old. To keep you in touch with some of the "News" we are listing some of them.

First of all, Oneida Community, the manufacturers of famous Community Silver Plate, is bringing on the market two beautiful sterling patterns. We feel that they are real beauties and we invite your inspection of them.

Speidel Watch Bands and Ronson Lighters are issuing several new pieces. Speidel, with its new men's Cobblestone, and Ronson, with its new gas lighter, should make many people happy this Christmas.

Gorham Sterling has a new series of individually initialed sterling flatware in solid gold. These patterns are rather expensive but defy all comparison.

Shaeffer has the newest pen development in decades. This pen actually fills without its point being immersed in the ink. You must see this new pen. The revolutionary new Shaeffer "Snorkel" is not on the market as yet, but it will be here in plenty of time for the holidays.

These are only a few of the new items being offered by some of America's finer manufacturers. You can bet that when Christmas rolls around, and it won't be long, our store will be stocked with all these new pieces—and many, many more.

We welcome your visit this Christmas as always. And remember, every single Christmas gift that is bought in our store may be engraved free of charge, while you wait if necessary.

See you next Saturday.

DAM PLANS —

and surrounding property. Site of the lake is near the Montgomery county park.

The possibility of leasing ground for bungalows along the lake front was pondered at the session in the court house, Norristown.

Commissioners Foster C. Hillegass, Raymond K. Mensch and Frederick C. Peters, President Judge Harold G. Knight, company representatives and six members of the county federation of sportsmen attended the meeting.

Among the sportsmen present were Raymond N. Schreyer, Sanatoga, vice president of the federation, and George Miller, Red Hill.

The "go" signal for the controversial dam was given on Jan. 12, 1951, when the State Water and Power Resources board authorized the water company to draw an additional 15,500,000 gallons of water daily from the Perkiomen.

In its approval, the board stressed the company may not take the additional water from the creek until the dam is built. Plans and specifications for the structure must be approved by the board.

Agent Says O'Malley Had $20,000 in Safe

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26 (AP)—A special agent of the Internal Revenue bureau testified today that he found $20,000 in the safe deposit box of Magistrate John J. O'Malley, who is on trial charged with evading payment of $150,000 in income taxes in 1945 and 1946.

The witness, Charles W. Keeley, special agent for the Bureau's intelligence division, told the Federal court jury the money, all in $100 bills, was found in a local bank.

Keeley was the first of several Government agents who are expected to testify before Judge Allan K. Grim. Also in the strong box, Keeley said, was a total of $82,000 in bonds, all held jointly in the names of O'Malley and his wife, Kathryn Carlin.

Keeley was on the stand when court recessed until Tuesday morning. No session will be held Monday because of observance of the Jewish holiday, Yom Kippur.

Europe Assembly OKs Pool of Transportation

STRASBOURG, France, Sept. 26 (AP)—The European Consultative assembly tonight gave its almost unanimous endorsement to a plan for the co-ordination of Western Europe's rail, highway and canal networks.

There was no opposition on the roll call and only one abstention, that of Belgium's Henri Rolin who criticized the project as "too vague."

The decision represented a start on the long-discussed European transportation pool, along lines of the Schuman plan steel and coal community, which the assembly has twice examined, only to shelve it each time.

PEARL BAILEY SUES

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—Pearl Bailey, Negro singer and entertainer, filed a $100,000 suit in Federal court today against Bill Miller's Riviera nightclub in Fort Lee, N. J., charging that she was beaten up there on Sept. 15.

along the Indiana roads."

After 1915 the doctor switched to Model T Fords.

"But I've also had Overlands, Willys Knights and Dodges," he added. "I still drive a car but I don't go out on calls much anymore. I stick pretty close to home and office since I developed a heart condition in 1943."

Dr. Landis is a native of Pennsburg. He attended Pennsburg High school and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Ursinus college. He studied medicine at the Medico Chirurgical hospital in Philadelphia, which is now the graduate hospital of the University of Pennsylvania.

IN 1902 AND 1903 Dr. Landis was an interne at Pottstown hospital. He also specialized in anesthesia there and at the Quakertown hospital later in 1949 and 1950.

Asked whether medical students have a tougher time getting through medical school today than they did 50 years ago, Dr. Landis said he didn't believe so.

"We had to learn just as much then," he observed, "but a lot of it was theoretical stuff we couldn't apply when we got out into practice."

He added that today's medical student gets practical training right in school.

"There have been remarkable changes in medicine since 1900," the doctor continued. "We had the knowledge then but we didn't have the medicines. We knew our pharmacopoeia but we knew nothing of today's wonder medicines.

"Diathermy, X-ray ultra-violet ray treatments are other new methods I have seen take their place as healing arts," he added.

"What we need now is remedies for specific diseases, such as cancer," he observed seriously, "and I am confident they will be found."

DR. LANDIS has been far too busy during his 47 years of practice in Pennsburg to have much time for hobbies except his wife and children.

"I putter around in the garden with trees and flowers, that's about all," he said.

The doctor met his wife, the former Kathryn Flickinger, during his stay in Indiana. She was a music teacher there in the town of Bluffton, but had gone there from the Pennsylvania town of Sheridan.

A daughter, Anne, wife of Irving Raymond, Green Lane RD, is also a teacher. She teaches English and dramatics at Upper Perkiomen High school. A son, Richard, has an automobile agency in Pennsburg.

The Montgomery county medical society is the local unit of the State society and the American Medical association, of which Dr. Landis has been a member since 1904.

About 150 physicians and their wives will be present when Dr. Walter F. Donaldson, Pittsburgh, retiring secretary of the State group, confers the certificate and plaque upon the Pennsburg doctor.

Swiss Girl, 19, Returns To US on Scholarship

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 26 (AP)—Two years ago Claire Schlatter of Switzerland was a high school girl here, one of 22 carefully selected European youths who came to Nashville as guests of Youth Incorporated to help further international understanding.

Now 19, Claire flew back here from Switzerland recently to enter Vanderbilt university as a freshman. She was met at the plane by many of the friends she made two years ago. "Coming to Vanderbilt has been my greatest ambition," she beamed.

Last year Vanderbilt offered scholarships to all 22 of the Europeans. Claire was the first to take up the offer.

THE DISADVANTAGE cited by Mrs. Cummins was that becoming a grandmother early in life means that a child (in her case, the daughter) had married somewhat earlier than she would recommend.

"Still," Mrs. Cummins added, "they have two wonderful children."

Mrs. Cummins' father, Andrew Long, Conshohocken, is living. Her mother, who was looking forward to becoming a great-grandmother, died just two days before the birth of Deborah Jean Brightbill would have made her one.

Mrs. Cummins was born in Conshohocken but has lived in Pottstown for the past 13 years. Her husband is employed by Lee Tire and Rubber company, Conshohocken.

Her grandchildren call her "Mom-Mom." Of her husband's grandfatherly title, she said, "He's Pop-Pop—and a proud one."

Area Girl to Enlist In WAF at Theater

Julia Lockowitz, Fairview street, Stowe, will enlist in the Women's Air Force tonight at 9 o'clock in ceremonies on the stage of the Hippodrome theater in which 16 members of the WACs and WAFs will participate.

Miss Lockowitz is a 1951 graduate of North Coventry High school. Recently, she has been employed by Pottstown Shirt company. She was enlisted by Sgt. Patricia Lathrop, of the Army and Air Force recruiting station in Pottstown postoffice.

Ceremonies will begin with the march of color bearers down the aisle with a background of martial music. At conclusion of enlistment ceremonies, the theater will present Sergeant Lathrop with an American flag. Capt. Albert Huffnagle, Philadelphia, will be among those participating.

Enlisting at the same time will be Ethel Bebholtz, Reading.

GLEN MOORE

Mrs. Francis Bogan, corr. Richard Reigner del. Phone Pottstown 1475-J

A rainbow of blooms welcomed visitors at the community flower show at Glen Moore Methodist church. From the enormous dahlia that was entered by Charles Wilson to the petite African violets displayed by Mrs. Robert Kerstetter, each section held lovely and interesting exhibits.

Judges, Mrs. Alfred Edelen, Mrs. Morse Garwood, and James Bollinger awarded ribbons to: class 1: specimen varieties, first prizes to Mrs. T. Baumgarde, Mrs. William B. Cornog, and Mrs. Baumgarde for roses, zinnias, and dahlias respectively; seconds went to Mrs. Baumgarde, Mrs. Charles Bond, and Mrs. Halton Beumer; thirds to Mrs. Baumgarde, Mrs. Ivan Barclay, and Charles Wilson. Class 2: vase arrangements: first to Mrs. James Keenan, second, Mrs. Ivan Barclay, and third, Mrs. Robert Kerstetter.

In class 3: dish gardens: Mrs. Chester Berkey, Mrs. Francis Fry and William Houck received awards in that order. Among the beautiful potted ferns displayed in class 4, first, second and third went to Mrs. Keenan (two awards) and Mrs. C. O. Miller. In class 5, which was novelty arrangements, first went to Mrs. Beumer for her windswept driftwood and figurine arrangement, second and third to Mr. Wilson and Mrs. Fry. In class 6: table arrangements: Mrs. Keenan received all the honors.

In class 7, guests were delighted with the charming arrangement by Mrs. Charles Zittle, Edge Mills. Mrs. Zittle used various garden vegetables, flowers and dried plant material to turn out such a lovely display that someone remarked it seemed a shame to take it apart. This display received first prize and the award of merit for the best exhibit.

In the potted plant division, class 8, the judges awarded firsts to Mrs. Beumer, Mrs. C. O. Miller, and Mrs. Keenan; seconds to Mrs. Kerstetter, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Wade Thomas and Mrs. Keenan; and thirds to Mrs. Kerstetter, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Keenan and Mrs. Berkey.

Mrs. Keenan and daughter, Mrs. Darwin Garrett, were hostesses during the afternoon. The background arrangements using draperies, ferns, and orchid plants were arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Grier Miller and the paster of the church. Those serving on the flower show committee were Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Clara Yocum, the Rev. Deaves and Mr. and Mrs. Larue Williamson.

Tables on the church lawn were arranged with all kinds of good things to eat and all kinds of nice things to take home. This part of the show was under the direction of the Woman's society president, Mrs. Grier Miller, and her hard working assistants: Mrs. Arthur Shingle, Mrs. Thomas Miller, Mrs. Joseph Mason, Mrs. Lewis McFalls, Mrs. Clarence Miles, Mrs. Hemphill Ayres, Mrs. Wade Thomas, Mrs. Maurice DeGezelle, Mrs. P. W. Bare and Mrs. John Schrader.

Special Effects Man Killed Making Film

TUSCUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 26 (AP)—A 20th Century Fox special effects man died in a hospital here last night after a dynamite blast to be used in a war picture went off prematurely.

Movie actor Victor Mature, who stars in the film "Baptism of Fire," was standing within 300 yards of the explosion.

Killed was Jess Wolf, 62, of Los Angeles. He and two others, James Thomas and Willard Elmore, both of south central Missouri, were working in a boat on the Osage river when the dynamite went off. Thomas and Elmore were not injured.

The movie company is quartered at Fort Leonard Wood.

They will attend an 8 a. m. mass in St. Aloysius Catholic church and will attend the communion breakfast in Maria Assunta lodge at 9:15 o'clock.

The breakfast is being held in conjunction with Bible week. The Rev. Charles Pickar, of Pottstown, a teacher in the Augustinian college, Washington D. C., will speak.

Father Pickar is one of a group of clergymen who has just completed work on a new Catholic Bible, which will be displayed at the breakfast. Tribute will be paid to past grand knights of Father Bally council at the breakfast.

Russia, France Plot Charged by Socialist

BONN, Germany, Sept. 26 (AP)—An opposition Socialist Parliamentary deputy charged today that France and Russia are working secretly to keep Germany divided. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer demanded proof of the charge.

The Socialist, Herbert Wehner, told his party's annual convention in Dortmund that he has material bearing out the charge. Willy Brandt, another Socialist deputy from Berlin, supported Wehner.

Brant said the "suspicion has arisen" that the Western powers and the Russians actually intend to work out a "cold peace" at Germany's expense making permanent the division of the country between East and West.

SENATE GROUP CHANGES HEADS

Hennings Named to Direct Election Probe Committee

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Senator Hennings (D. Mo.) took over from Senator Gillett (D-Iowa) today the ticklish job of directing investigation of the Benton-McCarthy charges and complaints arising from senatorial election campaigns.

Gillette resigned from the Senate elections subcommittee after serving as its chairman for about two and a half years. He spoke of "abuse" he had taken in connection with the group's probe of the charges Senators Benton (D.Conn.) and McCarthy (R.Wis.) have leveled at each other.

He denied, however, that he had resigned just to get out of the cross-fire of the Benton-McCarthy feud. He said he felt he had served his time in a job which, he asserted, no one seeks "as a matter of enjoyment."

Hennings, in taking over the chairmanship of the subcommittee, but ruled out any public hearings in connection with the group's investigations prior to the Nov. 4 elections. He also indicated that no reports were likely to be issued before that time.

GILLETTE in a letter of resignation to chairman Hayden (D.Ariz) of the Senate Rules committee, said he had concluded that the best interest of the elections subcommittee would be served by selecting a new chairman to conduct its work.

"I realize, of course, that I will be attacked severely for allegedly 'running out on responsibilities,'" Gillette wrote, "but the integrity of the election processes and the value of the committee's work are far more important than my own feelings in the matter."

Gillette's letter, submitting his resignation as of today, was dated Sept. 10, just two days after Senator Welker (R Idaho) resigned from the subcommittee with a charge that it was being used as a political vehicle by the Democratic Party."

Welker's resignation came on the eve of the Wisconsin primary in which McCarthy was renominated and coincided with the resignation of a staff investigator, Jack Poorpaugh, who accused the subcommittee of favoring Benton over McCarthy.

Gillette announced his resignation after a closed-door session of the subcommittee in his office. He said Hayden had appointed Hennings to succeed him as chairman.

If you look closely at this frisky bunch of First graders at the St. Clair school you'll see the flash bulb seems to have interrupted a little private joke. The broad grin on her face tells that teacher, Mrs. Grace W. Yocom enjoyed it too. From left to right in the first row are Jean Roen, Jean Seyler, Ursula Harmansky, Samuel Wampole, Laura Albright, Kathryn Dinnocinti, Ronald Moyer, Margaret Baczor and Teresa Lengyel. Second row, from left to right, shows Joseph Houck, Carol Ondo, Betty Ann Myers, Jerry Long, Robert Lare, Mark Smith and Dennis Cutillo. In the third row, from left to right are Bernadette Tuscano, Reginia Boeshore, Larry Kirlin, John Vagasky, Mary Ann Fizz, and Esther Seyler. In the same order, row four shows Patricia Fritz, Joseph Buchanan, Sally Brauch, Teresa Pinkas and Robert Brauner. Way up there on the top step, from left to right, are Larry Liming, James Marcher, Nathaniel Jackson and James White.

New Airline Routes To Link US, Europe Over Top of World

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26 (AP)—Scandinavian Airlines system tonight announced plans for the first California to Europe air service over the top of the world via Thule air base.

The US, Danish and Canadian governments have granted approval for exploratory flights over the shortcut polar route, SAS officials said at a news conference here. The first two such flights are scheduled for November.

Regular passenger service is expected to begin about April 1. The plan calls for three flights per week from Los Angeles to Copenhagen, with stops at San Francisco, Edmonton, Alta., and Thule, Greenland.

"The recent completion of the great air base at Thule makes this route entirely safe and practicable," Tore H. Nilert, SAS president, said.

FLYING TIME from Los Angeles to Copenhagen will be cut from a present minimum of 25 hours to perhaps 18 or 20 hours, SAS spokesmen added. The estimated air mileage will be 5695, compared to the present 6370 via New York.

The airline's present New York-Copenhagen service via Gander and Glasgow will continue.

The line—a Danish-Norwegian-Swedish combine—will operate the Arctic Circle service with DC-6B planes, each carrying 72 passengers, at altitudes of 20,000 to 25,000 feet.

Extra cabin heaters will be installed in the planes, but SAS men said Polar flight poses no special problem because air temperatures are generally higher than ground temperatures in the Arctic area.

Thule air base is about 650 miles from the North Pole. The U S air force the past week flew American and Danish newsmen over the pole in shirt sleeves. The U S built the base with permission of the Danes, who own Greeland.

Navy Anchor Supply Could Last Century

LONDON, Sept. 26 (AP)—US Navy Secretary Dan Kimball said today purchases during World War II provided the US Navy with enough anchors not just for 50 years but a full century.

He made the observation when asked to comment on a statement by Republican Presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower at Baltimore last night that the Navy laid in "a 50-year supply of anchors all at once." Eisenhower was criticizing government defense expenditures.

Unidentified Driver Blamed for Collision

An unidentified driver caused a minor collision of two sedans on King street, near Washington street, late yesterday afternoon.

Joan M. Borgiet, 1015 South street, told Sgt. Daniel J. Linton, she was traveling south on Washington street, then turned right on King street. An unknown car traveling east on King street forced her into a parked car owned by Joseph J. Barrett, 301 Elm street, South Pottstown.

Barrett's car was parked at the edge of the curb. There was no damage to the Borgiet car. The left front fender of the parked sedan was damaged.

Recreation Center Lists Fall Schedule

Bethany Recreation center, Beech and Grant streets, will open for the Fall and Winter indoor season Monday, the Pottstown Recreation commission anonunced yesterday.

The center again will be under the supervision of Richard Ricketts Sr., assistant director of recreation.

Assisting him will be his wife, Mrs. Margaret Ricketts, in charge of the game room and Mrs. Astoria Martin, in charge of the kiddies room. Boys and girls up to 12 years of age will be under the supervision of Mrs. Martin between the hours of 6 to 9 p. m.

Included among the activities for youngsters will be basketball and volleyball in the gym; ping pong and other table games in the game room, and handicraft, art and dramatics in the kiddies room.

The center will be open evenings from 6 until 10 o'clock on weekdays and all day Saturday.

Sparkman 'Likes' Nixon; Believes He Is Honest

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 26 (AP)—Sen. John J. Sparkman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, brought applause from Oklahoma editors today when he declared he always believed his Republican opponent, Sen. Richard Nixon, "was honest."

The statement came as Sparkman opened a meeting of the Oklahoma Press association to questions.

Sparkman was asked if he believed Nixon's character and honesty "are above reproach?"

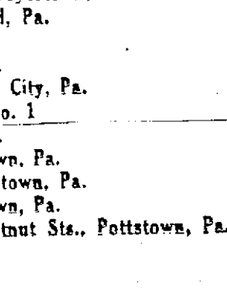

"I like Senator Nixon and think he is a good man. I've always believed that he was honest" Sparkman replied.

The Newest Bible

MISCALCULATIONS—heartbreaking delays [illegible]—partnership difficulties — financial troubles—fears that his amazing secret would leak out—all these must have vanished momentarily from his weary mind as Johann Gutenberg held in his hands the first copy of the first book to be printed from movable type.

Significantly the book Gutenberg had chosen for testing his world-shaking invention was the Latin Vulgate, the people's Bible of medieval Europe.

Even he could not foresee, however, on that mid-15th century day, the extent of the revolution his printing process would work in the history of God's Word.

He died in 1468, impoverished and unhonored, without realizing how his printing press would encourage new translations of the Bible until finally the gospel message would reach into every language in every corner of the globe.

Belated honor comes this year to the German "father of printing," in commemoration of the 500th anniversary of his famous 42-line Bible.

Tuesday is the date. By a fortunate coincidence Tuesday is of further significance to American churchmen. For Roman Catholics it is Saint Jerome's Day, recognizing the monk who in 385-405 gave the Western world his revised Latin translation of the Bible, the Vulgate.

For Protestants Tuesday is the date on which the Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible will be released to the public for the first time.

It will be introduced that night to Pottstown at a service in Emmanuel Lutheran church.

It is the result of planning begun in 1929 and of active effort since 1937 to produce a revision of the Scriptures in English clear and meaningful for modern readers.

The publication of this version just 500 years after Gutenberg was turning off the first printed Bible focuses particular interest on his life and work.

Unfortunately, facts are meager. Even the date and the place of his birth are in doubt, though it seems likely he was born around 1398 in the city of Mainz.

An old legend gives an intriguing if unauthenticated explanation of Johann's connection with printing.

The story goes that during his boyhood Johann helped his mother collect skins from the slaughterhouse and make them into parchment.

One day while watching the fire under a pot of dye, Johann sat whittling the first letter of his name from a block of wood. Suddenly it slipped from his fingers into the blue dye. Quickly the boy reached for the letter, burned his fingers, dropped it just as quickly.

To his dismay the letter bounced onto a drying parchment, making a perfect blue "J" where it fell. His worry over the ruined parchment gave way to excited speculation.

Why couldn't all the letters of the alphabet be carved and stamped on parchment to form words?

Whatever may have been his incentive, certainly Johann Gutenberg must have spent years in dreaming of and experimenting with techniques for replacing the old laborious methods of hand copying.

Finding wooden type unsatisfactory, he conceived the idea of casting metal type with a matrix. He had also to design and build a press, make all auxiliary equipment, and find the ink best suited to his purpose.

Sometime before 1450 he returned to Mainz. In 1451 his first printed literature appeared—a letter of indulgence by Pope Nicholas V for aid against the Turks.

At the same time he must have been working on the Bible, devising type that would look like the hand-written alphabet.

The content was set 42 lines to the column. Between 200 and 300 copies were printed, 35 on vellum and the rest on paper. The 45 copies in existence today—12 on vellum and 33 on paper—attest to the superb quality of workmanship. The paper has never been excelled for durability.

How incredulous he would have been could he have looked forward 500 years to the magnitude, reception and support of the publication of the Revised Standard Version! The first edition of one million copies due Tuesday is being hailed as the biggest project in book publishing history.

Tuesday will be a day of homecoming for Saint Jerome, for Johann Gutenberg and for the role of the Bible in our religious and national heritage.

The Revised Standard Version Bible observance here tonight will not be complete unless hundreds of Pottstonians remember to give honor to the newest milestone in Bible history.

PUNKIN CORNERS, September 26.

Editor, The Mercury.
Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where a Vermont man, 100 years old, says he keeps fit chopping wood. Keeps the old man with the scythe at bay with an ax, eh?

Not knowing his politics, I can't tell whether Rocky Marciano's win over Heavyweight Champ Jersey Joe Walcott was the first Republican or Democratic win of the year!

And say: Though it took them two years to do it, the Brooklyn Dodgers finally won the 1951 pennant!

'Cowboying' Makes Driver Nervous

Too Much Cowboying

To the Editor: The other night three dizzy cowboys passed me on High street. They were rambling from one side of the street to the other.

Their speed was approximately 50 miles an hour when they passed me. A few seconds later they slowed to 30 miles per hour and tried to entice me to race.

I had to slow my car to 25 to stay in back of them. Then they gunned ahead again and roared east out of the borough limits and toward Sanatoga.

This is just one of dozens of ridiculous speeding cases in the borough. Why can't the cops clamp down on these rubber burners?

If the [illegible] continues, Pottstown will become the scene of an unnecessary traffic death.

'Do the Job Right'

To the Editor: I read in The Mercury that school board directors approved some economy measures to reduce the new estimate of $350,000 to build the new West End school.

The original estimate was $300,000 but it was reported that rising construction costs necessitated the increased estimate.

So the directors, in order to compensate for the increased costs of construction, decided to eliminate some of the luxuries—a proposed sound-proof music room and lavatories in First grade classes have been eliminated from the plans.

The story also said that construction costs will go up even higher in the future.

What I want to know is, what are the directors going to cut out then?

It's very poor logic to begin eliminating rooms when costs go up and when all indications point to further increases. The only thing which can be done is to appropriate more money for the building or forget about constructing a school.

Economy can be stretched just so far. If rooms and so-called luxuries are eliminated every time costs of construction go up, the school board may as well settle for a one-room building and wait until prices drop.

My advice to the school board is, "Do the job right or don't do it at all!"

West Ender — LOGICAL

No Politics on Streets

To the Editor: As a Democrat, I hope the Democratic leaders in town do not try to tie opposition to the street bond in with opposition to General Eisenhower and Nixon.

We need new streets built in this town. We need to have a major repair job done on many old streets. There should be no attempt to connect national politics with local politics of this kind.

WASHINGTON

Many More Like Nixon Accept Financial Aid

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—Although the Democrats naturally condemn the Republican vice presidential candidate's acceptance of outside financial aid, there is hardly a man in public life today who is not the beneficiary of direct or indirect assistance, large or small. There is not a member of Congress who does not understand and sympathize with Nixon's plight.

There is no intention here of condoning or criticizing the Californian. His importance in the campaign simply furnishes an opportunity for a frank and honest discussion of public servants and their pocketbooks.

As a rule, it is a subject which officeholders usually discuss only with their wives or family friends. I have sat in on many of these tragic talks in my 29 years at Washington.

ROOSEVELT: Any candid and historical discussion must start with the admission that the Roosevelt family first showed a willingness, even an eagerness, to capitalize on political power and position. Two wrongs do not make a right, but here is a partial record of a negligence or callousness similar to that charged against Nixon:

When Al Smith asked Franklin D. Roosevelt to run for Governor of New York in 1928 in order to help carry the state, Roosevelt replied that he had incurred heavy debts in maintaining Warm Springs, which was then operated and financed like any private sanitorium. His periodical visits there helped to stimulate trade.

In order to free F.D.R. of these financial worries and obligation, John J. Raskob, a du Pont executive and Democratic National chairman, handed over $25,000. It is understood that other amounts were contributed by Raskob-Smith friends.

Had it not been for this contribution, which relieved the drain on his cash and credit, F.D.R. might never have become President of United States.

The Roosevelt family immediately cashed in on their accession to the White House, as no predecessors had ever done. Although only a youngster, "Jimmie" became independently wealthy from selling insurance to large corporations in Boston and New York.

Mrs. Roosevelt and Anna, with no previous training or experience, began to earn large fees as magazine and newspaper contributors. Anna's two husbands, Curtis Dahl and the late John Boettiger, improved their financial status in the brokerage and newspaper fields, respectively.

Although Elliott Roosevelt was an utter stranger to John F. Hartford, he wangled a $210,000 loan from the chain store executive. A friendly phone call from F.D.R. facilitated this amazing transaction. When Elliott defaulted, Jesse H. Jones, at F.D.R.'s request, liquidated the $210,000 loan for $4000 of his own money.

SIDELINES: Now, during this period of presidential financing at and around 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, F.D.R. handled many legislative and regulatory questions affecting the fields in which he and his family had engaged—health, insurance, the brokerage business, chain stores, postal rates for newspapers and magazines.

Another well mined vein for F.D.R.'s personal and official family—Hopkins, Ickes, Wallace, Perkins, etc.—was the writing of books and magazine articles, in which they divulged for personal gain official secrets they had withheld from the press and the American people.

Governor Stevenson seemingly understands Nixon's dilemma. As Illinois executive, he has drafted many able business men for his personal and administrative staff. But they could not serve him if they had not been wealthy men, or if their corporation employers had not agreed to keep them on the private payroll.

Stevenson himself might not have been able to afford the luxury of a political career, including a presidential nomination, if he did not have a private income of $25,000 or more.

The Voice of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

(Dorothy Kilgallen is on vacation, pinch-hitting for her today is the famous jazz authority and editor, Leonard Feather.)

Leonard Feather Writes:

WE MUST root out . . . foxtrots, tangoes, rhumbas and decadent singing styles . . . unhealthy decadent art, brought to our country from America, must be subjected to criticism."

Jo Stafford

"Protests can be heard against the invasion of vulgar American ditties and convulsive boogie woogie."

"Jazz is the music of spiritual enslavement . . . to love jazz is to love the dentist's drill."

Know where these quotes came from? You guessed it — they're from Izvestia and two other Communist publications. They are part of the constant Communist onslaught against every indigenous American art. And they're not going unchallenged.

Guesting in this column a year ago, we made brief mention of the value of our popular music as international propaganda. In the months since then there have been numerous significant development on two fronts—one, of the stepped-up program of overseas visits by our big stars; two, the panoramic music program of the Voice of America.

FOR SEVERAL years after the war American artists couldn't be used as good-will ambassadors: the transportation, economic and other headaches prevented it. But today our human harmony exports are exceeding even the pre-war level.

The result has been a strange contrast between politics and reality. While a French Communist publication raged that "American jazz is an unprecedented evil that has killed our native folk songs, which today do not even smell of France," thousands of fanatical French fans flocked to the latest Salon Du Jazz, which paid homage to such visiting heroes as Dizzy Gillespie and Sidney Bechet.

While Pravda wailed about America's "vulgarization of vocal styles and cheap lyrics, which causes a feeling of alarm among progressive forces," the Red government that has seized Czechoslovakia suffered one of its first public setbacks at a lecture, when Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra were labeled as "products of decadent American capitalistic culture" and the audience reacted with an angry demonstration against the lecturer.

WHILE THE newspaper Soviet Art damned our music as "an invention for potbellied businessmen, an imperialistic export to Marshallized countries," Ella Fitzgerald held an audience enraptured in a huge theater, at a concert under the auspices of the Hot Club at Frankfurt.

While the red press continues its anti-Semitic attacks on "cosmopolitan Zionists," Lena Horne joined forces with an Israeli symphony orchestra to score the most sensational success ever registered by an American artist in Israel.

Official edicts will never suppress the Eastern European's taste for forbidden fruit. K. Siva, a refugee from Czechoslovakia, wrote not long ago that "If at the time of the German Communist Youth Festival in Berlin the western sector had offered some of the leading American jazz bands, this would have been the greatest attraction there and of tremendous propaganda value. Jazz is a precious treasure for the youth in many countries behind the Iron Curtain. All this represents an excellent opportunity for the United States, and therefore my suggestion is: Give them more jazz on the broadcasts being beamed to the Iron Curtain countries."

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DANIEL AND DAVID, aged 16 and 15, are the two youngest members of our family.

They decided to start reading the Bible, so began with Genesis. They set their goal at 5 chapters per day.

On this plan they hoped to finish both the Old Testament, as well as the New Testament, within a year.

They are already about half way through the Old Testament. Mrs. Crane and I are encouraging them most heartily.

For the Bible is the most influential book in all the history of the world.

Most of our American colleges and hospitals are a direct outgrowth of the churches, which are rooted in the Bible.

The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts meet in the churches. The YMCA, YWCA and CYO are outgrowths of the Bible, too. So are the Red Cross and Salvation Army.

THE BIBLE is still the best seller among all books. It gives you a wonderful education in English vocabulary and grammar.

Shakespeare quoted from it hundreds of times. Abraham Lincoln used it as the basis for his beautiful literary phrasing, as exemplified in the Gettysburg address.

General Douglas MacArthur had read it through six times before he graduated at the head of his class at West Point. Incidentally, Gen. MacArthur set the highest scholastic record ever made at West Point, too.

But how many of you readers have ever finished even the New Testament? How many have read the entire Bible clear through?

Recently, I made a survey of a large church audience and only 18 percent had read the Bible from cover to cover. That audience numbered many older folks, too, so the percentage is probably high.

Among my students at Northwestern University, not 10 percent had ever read the Bible. Nowadays I doubt if five percent of the usual college student body has even read the New Testament.

* * *

WHEN I graduated from high school, my mother gave me a Bible as a gift. How many of you other mothers are giving your children a Bible at high school commencement?

Yet you women are the custodians of culture and education and idealism and morality. If you don't even give your children their own Bibles, you haven't launched them properly into life!

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

ACNE IS one of the commonest disorders of adolescent boys and girls. It usually calls for a careful diet, which is outlined in a general way. More serious cases may require treatment with drugs, hormones or vitamins.

Adolescence is a time of stress and strain for the whole body, as the tissues and processes of the child change to those of an adult. Sometimes these changes are a bit too sudden or too rugged for an individual and lead to various upsets, both physical and mental. Doctors are quite familiar with these temporary disturbances.

Acne comes from a disturbance of certain glands in the skin, known as the sebaceous or oil glands. It is seen more often in boys than girls, though it is quite frequent in both. Its most usual location is on the face, shoulders, chest and back.

After its onset in adolescence, the disease may continue for some years. Serious cases can be very disfiguring, and may even cause permanent scars.

What are the changes that attack the skin gland in this way? It is thought that the underlying cause is an overproduction of male hormones at this time.

Remember that the body begins to produce more of the sex hormones at adolescence, and women, as well as men, produce some of the male hormones.

These hormones cause the sebaceous glands to over-secrete a waxy substance that plugs up the gland and forms a pimple. This type of plug or blackhead is present in all cases of acne.

The boy or girl suffering from one should eat a well-balanced diet of vegetables, fruit, milk, eggs and meat. Meat should be eaten only once a day. Plenty of water is also important—six to eight glasses daily. The bowel movements should also be kept regular.

The foods to avoid are pastries, such as pies and cakes, ice cream, fried foods, iodized salt, peanut butter, nuts and chocolate. The diet should also be light in sugar, fats, meats, potatoes, bread, macaroni and cheese.

The face should be washed with a mild soap several times daily, but the person should not squeeze the pimples or blackheads. Ointments containing sulfonamide are sometimes of help in clearing up cases of acne.

Solomon Held Sway Over a Glittering Kingdom

God Became Angry At Luxurious Living

The Golden Text

Queen of Sheba at the court of Solomon.

"A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he possesseth."—Luke 12:15.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IT HAS been suggested that Israel in the time of King Solomon was in much the same condition in which our own country is today. It was a rich nation. Great building operations were being conducted. Visitors came from far and near to see the glory and imbibe the king's wisdom. Taxes, however, were becoming more and more burdensome, and luxury prevailed all over the kingdom.

The reign may be dated approximately between 960 and 920 B.C.—40 years. Nine hundred years before the birth of Christ, Solomon traded with faraway lands like Spain, northwestern Arabia, down on the Red Sea, near the Gulf of Akabah, and on the eastern coast of Africa, where it is thought Ophir may have been located.

"Solomon ruled over all the kingdom from the river (Euphrates) unto the land of the Philistines, and unto the border of Egypt; they brought tribute, and served Solomon all the days of his life."

His own people, Judah and Israel, who "were as many as the sand which is by the sea in multitude," ate and drank and made merry.

Enormous quantities of food were consumed by the king's household, and the king had many thousand horses for his chariots, and many horsemen.

"And Judah and Israel dwelt safely, every man under his own vine and under his own fig-tree, from Dan to Beersheba, all the days of Solomon."

"And God gave Solomon wisdom and understanding exceeding much, and largeness of heart . . . and Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the children of the country, and all the wisdom of Egypt." Men of the east were noted for their wisdom.

"He spake 3,000 proverbs; and his songs were a thousand and five.

"And he spake of trees, from the cedar tree that is in Lebanon even unto the hyssop that springeth out of the wall; he spake also of beasts, and of fowl, and of creeping things, and of fishes."

Doesn't that also remind you of our own day, when nature studies are so popular?

His building operations were extensive. He built a house for himself, and one for his Egyptian wife, daughter of the Pharaoh, and many other beautiful and elaborate buildings besides the temple.

The Queen of Sheba heard of the wisdom of Solomon and his great power, and she came a-visiting to discover for herself if all she had heard was true. She brought with her a list of questions, the nature of which we are not told. Solomon answered them all satisfactorily.

After she "had seen all Solomon's wisdom, and the house that he had built," his manner of living, etc., she told the king:

"It was a true report that I heard in mine own land of thy acts and of thy wisdom.

"Howbeit I believed not the words until I came, and mine eyes had seen it: and, behold, the half was not told me; thy wisdom and prosperity exceedeth the fame of which I heard.

"Happy are thy men, happy are these thy servants, which stand continually before thee, and that hear thy wisdom.

"Blessed be the Lord thy God, which delighteth in thee, to set thee on the throne of Israel for ever, therefore made He thee king, to do judgment and justice."

The Queen gave Solomon many valuable gifts before she returned home.

In all the world's history, sad to say, there are far too many fine, gifted men who have attained power and fame, only to become tyrants, "drunk with power," who have misused their gifts and the high places which they have obtained.

So it was with Solomon. With all his wisdom, he fell from Jehovah's favor, and set a degrading example for the people who honored and trusted him. He had enlarged his harem to 1,000 women, which, of itself was a degrading influence, and these women placed a burden on the people of the country who were obliged to pay for their support and lives of luxury.

Furthermore, as Solomon grew old, some of these wives, who worshiped strange and abominable gods, weaned the king away from his perfect worship of Jehovah. Jehovah was angered, and told Solomon that he was no longer worthy of his great position.

However, the Lord remembered His servant David, and decreed that the kingdom should remain as it was as long as Solomon lived, but that when he "slept with his fathers" the kingdom would be divided, and his son, Rehoboam, would reign over only one tribe of Israel.

At the end of Solomon's reign he had several adversaries, and after his death one of these, Jeroboam, became king of Israel, while Rehoboam reigned only over Judah.

The Glory of Solomon's Empire — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Solomon's kingdom extended from the river Euphrates to the borders of Egypt. Judah and Israel, who were as many as the sands of the sea in multitude, ate, drank and were merry.

Hearing of Solomon's wisdom and splendor, the Queen of Sheba came to him, asking questions. She went away telling him that all she had heard of him was true and more.

All the known world heard of Solomon's renown and sought him, bringing to him gifts—vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and garments, and armor, and spices, horses and mules.

Solomon had many wives, who tempted him to worship idols. Angered, Jehovah decreed that after his death, part of the kingdom would be taken away.

Pottstown Adventists Mark Birthday

The Pottstown Seventh Day Adventist church will celebrate the 75th birthday of the Seventh Day Adventist Sabbath schools at 9:30 o'clock services this morning.

The centennial worship service will be conducted by David S. Crain, local lay leader, at the church's temporary meeting place in Sanatoga.

The Fine Forge Seventh Day Adventist church also will celebrate the 100th anniversary in special services today at the Sabbath school and at worship services.

Michael Termine, superintendent of the Pottstown Sabbath school and the church, said a special program has been prepared to begin at 11 a. m.

Pottstown to Join Nation in Celebration of Bible Revision

Norristown Pastor To Be Speaker Here

Pottstown will join over 3000 communities across the nation in celebrating the first public appearance of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible Tuesday night at the Emmanuel Lutheran church.

This is the first revision undertaken by Protestants in over 51 years and will be one of the most important religious events of the century, it was announced yesterday.

The Rev. W. Everett Griffiths, pastor of the First Baptist church of Norristown, has been selected as principal speaker. "The Word of Life in Living Language," which is the theme of the nation-wide observance, will be the topic of his address.

An outstanding Bible scholar, he was for 15 years a professor of Hebrew and Old Testament interpretation at the Eastern Baptist seminary in Philadelphia. He resigned that post the past Spring in order to return to the parish ministry.

THE REV. GRIFFITHS is a member of the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis, American Scholars of Oriental Research, American Oriental society, National Association of Biblical Instructors, National Education association, and the Society of the Middle East.

Included on Tuesday night's program will be an anthem by the choir of Emmanuel church under the direction of Mrs. William S. Hellyer. There also will be a processional of Pottstown's Protestant clergy, and the presentation of five copies of the new version of the Bible to representative citizens of the community whose names will be revealed for the first time at the meeting.

There also will be an exhibit of facsimile pages of early translations of the English Bible, which will duplicate the display at the Pottstown Public library this month. Copies of the new version also will be displayed through the courtesy of two local bookstores.

Church Bible Display Marks Publication Of New Revised Holy Scriptures Version

A special display of Bibles has been set up in Grace Lutheran church, West and Evans streets, to mark the publication of the New Revised Standard Version of the Holy Scriptures.

The display comprises Bibles of many different languages both old and new and also several old prayer books which have been used in the church in times past.

In the display are several large German Bibles all of which contain the translation of Martin Luther. One of these is a large volume printed in Nurnberg in 1765. The covers are made of wood covered with leather and the book contains several illustrations both biblical and historical. Also in the display are Swedish, French, Latin, Greek and Hebrew Bibles.

Both the Protestant and Roman Catholic editions of the New Testament in Latin are included. Alongside the Greek New Testament which is the form in which it was originally written is a modern Greek New Testament. This particular copy was given to the pastor of Grace church by the Protestant minister in Canea on the island of Crete in 1947.

IN THE DISPLAY is a large two-volume set entitled Biblia Triglotta which was once the property of the Rev. Dr. J. J. Kline. One volume of this set is the Old Testament in Hebrew, Greek and Latin. The other is the New Testament in Greek, Syrias and Latin.

Several modern translations are also included in the display; among them Goodspeed's, Weymouth's and the Roman Catholic Confraternity and also Knox's translations.

The Bibles are on display in the Sunday school room and the public is cordially invited to view them.

Protestant Versions: Old and New

King James Bible

Genesis: Chap. 2 : V 18 to V 25

18 And the Lord God said, It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make an help meet for him.

19 And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field and every fowl of the air; and brought them unto Adam to see what he would call them: and whatsoever Adam called every living creature that was the name thereof.

20 And Adam gave names to all the cattle, and to the fowl on the air, and to every beast of the field; but for Adam there was not found an help meet for him.

21 And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof;

22 And the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man.

23 And Adam said, This is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh: she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man.

24 Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh.

25 And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not ashamed.

Revised Version

Genesis: Chap. 2 : V 18 to V 25

18 Then the Lord God said, "It is not good that the man should be alone. I will make him a helper fit for him." 19 So out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field and every bird of the air, and brought them to the man to see what he would call them; and whatever the man called every living creature, that was its name. 20 The man gave names to all cattle, and to the birds of the air, and to every beast of the field; but for man there was not found a helper fit for him. 21 So the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon the man, and while he slept took one of his ribs and closed up its place with flesh; 22 and the rib which the Lord God had taken from the man he made into a woman and brought her to the man. 23 Then the man said,

"This at last is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh;
she shall be called Woman,
because she was taken out of Man."

24 Therefore a man leaves his father and his mother and cleaves to his wife, and they become one flesh. 25 And the man and his wife were both naked, and were not ashamed.

Catholic Versions of Same Verses

Douay Bible

Genesis: Chap. 2 : V 18 to V 25

18. And the Lord God said: It is not good for man to be alone: let us make him a help like unto himself.

19. And the Lord God having formed out of the ground all the beasts of the earth, and all the fowls of the air, brought them to Adam to see what he would call them: for whatsoever Adam called any living creature the same is its name.

20. And Adam called all the beasts by their names, and all the fowls of the air, and all the cattle of the field: but for Adam there was not found a helper like himself.

21 The Lord God cast a deep sleep upon Adam: and when he was fast asleep, he took one of his ribs, and filled up flesh for it.

22. And the Lord God built the rib which he took from Adam into a woman: and brought her to Adam.

23. And Adam said: This now is bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called woman, because she was taken out of man.

24. Wherefore a man shall leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they shall be two in one flesh.

25. And they were both naked: to wit, Adam and his wife: and were not ashamed.

New Translation

Genesis: Chap. 2 : V 18 to V 25

18. Then the Lord God said, "It is not good that the man is alone; I will make him a helper like himself."

19. When the Lord God had formed out of the ground all the beasts of the field and the birds of the air, he brought them to the man to see what he would call them; for that which the man called each of them would be its name.

20. The man named all the cattle, all the birds of the air and all the beats of the field; but he found no helper like himself.

21. The Lord God cast the man into a deep sleep and, while he slept, took one of his ribs and closed up its place with; 22. flesh. And the rib which the Lord God took from the man, 23. he made into a woman, and brought her to him. Then the man said:

"She now is bone of my bone, and flesh of my flesh:
She shall be called Woman,
for from man she has been taken."

24. For this reason a man leaves his father and mother, and clings to his wife, and the two become one flesh.

25. Both the man and his wife were naked, but they felt no shame.

2d Baptist Church To Note 'Choir Day'

Pottstown's Second Baptist church will present its annual "Choir Day" service at the Bethany Youth center, Beech and Grant streets, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

It was announced that the following choirs will be present to contribute to the musical program:

The Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church; Grimes A. M. E. church; First Baptist church of Bernardtown and Passtown; St. Paul's church of Bethlehem; Junior choir of the Second Baptist church, and the Second Baptist church of Media.

T. B. Carter, spokesman for the church, announced that there will be plenty of room for all those interested in attending the event.

The old slate blackboard is obsolete, and should be replaced in the schoolroom by a green chalk board for easier seeing, according to the American Optometric association.

Church Schedules Memorial Service For Former Warden

A memorial service to Francis L. Laverty will be held in Christ Episcopal church today at 4 p. m.

It will be a Requiem Eucharist with the choir participating. Friends of the former warden, members and non-members, have been invited.

Those desiring to make their Communion at the service may do so, as the Communion will not be closed as previously announced. The family has requested that the Communion be open.

The Coffee-Kitchen will be held in the parish house Sunday. About 75 people attended last Sunday.

The Inns of Court are schools for legal training. In medieval times the Inns were actually inns which housed and fed aspiring legal students.

WIRES BUZZED FOR NIXON

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP) — The Western Union Telegraph company announced today that 175,000 telegrams were filed throughout the nation in response to Sen. Richard M. Nixon's radio-telecast appeal the past Tuesday night.

Strength for These Days

The Bible

Give, and it will be given unto you . . . the measure you give will be the measure you get back.—(Luke 6:38.)

Scowl at someone and invariably you will get a scowl in return; unkind words or deeds come back upon us two-fold in bitterness. But a smile, a kind word, a good deed—these doubly bless the giver and the receiver as well, and they spread out to all those around us like the light of the sun.

PROCLAMATION

for

"BIBLE OBSERVANCE" WEEK

WHEREAS, The well being of our community can rise no higher than the character of our people and the integrity, goodwill and social concern so greatly needed here are character traits nurtured by high religious devotion; and

WHEREAS, The effective and faithful teaching now being carried on in our churches and homes should be more generally recognized by our people as being basic to the welfare of every aspect of desirable community and family life;

Now, Therefore, I William A. Grifith, Burgess of the Borough of Pottstown, hereby proclaim the period beginning Sunday, September 28 and continuing through Sunday, October 5, 1952, as the Twenty-second Annual Christian Education Week. I also call attention to the fact that our community will hold an inter-church service of Thanksgiving and Dedication for the Bible on Tuesday, Sept. 30th, on the day of the first public appearance of the Revised Standard version of the Bible and hope that the message of the Holy Scriptures will come alive for our people in new and compelling power.

There is a man in our community who doesn't understand the importance of religious education.

He has never taken his little boy to Sunday School because he figures "it's time enough for a child to learn about religion when he's old enough to know what it's all about!"

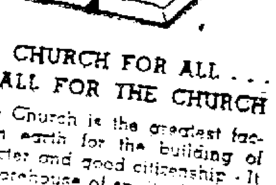

One day his little boy, while sitting on the swing, said "Daddy, give me a push."

Wouldn't you have thought he would refuse? (Time enough for a child to swing when he's old enough to know what it's all about.)

But he gave him a push . . . and another . . . and many more!

Which prompts us to observe that religious education has far more to do with a child's happiness and character than swinging. Those early years in the Church mold moral fibre and awaken spiritual discernment.

The soul of your own child . . . at the threshhold of FAITH . . . cries "Daddy, give me a push!"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Bible Words to Live by

The following is a scriptural text of special significance to me.

LUKE 9:23—"If any man will come after Me, let him take up his cross daily and follow Me."

* * *

Some time ago, I had the opportunity to visit the Tower of London. I was particularly impressed by a single, meaningful sentence carved by a prisoner on the wall of a cell over three hundred years ago.

It read: "It is not adversity that kills, but the impatience with which we bear adversity."

In merely rebelling against trouble or affliction we often do little more than make a bad situation worse.

It is much more sensible to do something to correct an evil insofar as you can and take the rest with patience.

Christ, Who gladly suffered so much for each of us, expects you and me to be cheerful in meeting adversity.

A Painting Grandmother Is Mrs. Linwood Herpst

"It's easier to be a grandmother these days," said 45-year-old Mrs. Linwood Herpst, as she relaxed against her sofa and gazed at the picture of David Keith Pomponio, her 18 months old grandchild.

But one would guess thot it is her quiet way of moving and speaking which has kept her dark hair so lively, her brown eyes so bright and her manner so youthful, rather than a superabundance of electric irons, washing-machines or electric mixers which her grandmother ever had.

"In fact," she went on, "it's difficult to imagine myself a grandmother at all. It's a little like being 18 years old and looking forward to the time when you'll be 20. When you finally do get to be 20, you never feel any different than you had before."

NOT COUNTING all the new interests which come in being the grandmother of a grandson who is just learning to walk, Mrs. Herpst's main hobby is her home. When she and her husband, a likely candidate for the youngest grandfather in Pottstown, moved into their newly-built house, 29 West Seventh street, four years ago, Mrs. Herpst took over the job of painting all the woodwork and cabinets. Today she is going to start painting the walls in the living room—wild cherry and cactus green.

Further immediate evidences of her homemaking tendencies are crocheted antimacassars. Done in a "cartwheel" pattern, they decorate various pieces of the living room furniture, making a pleasant contrast of white against deep red or green.

LIKE ALL suburban dwellers, she has discovered that the fight against the dandelion and crabgrass is unending. She spends long hours on the lawn, trimming the walk, planting in the shrubbery, and planning her flower garden.

Mrs. Herpst attained her grandmother distinction at the tender age of 45 by marrying at 18. Her daughter, Mrs. Angelo Pomponio, 1210 North Franklin street, was of the same idea evidently; she, too married at 18.

Take another look at Grandmother!

She doesn't look old? Ask her what her age is. Extremely young for the title of "Grandmother"? Give us a call at The Mercury, and let your friends and neighbors in on Grandma's age secret! The number is Pottstown 6000. Call today!

Women of Moose Plan Costumes, Gifts For Orphan Children

The Women of the Moose met Thursday night in the lodge hall with Mrs. Gertrude Lender presiding.

Mrs. Pauline Ondik, chairman of homemaking, and Mrs. Katherine Hill, chairman of child care and training, the two committee heads in charge of making the Hallowe'en costumes for the children in Mooseheart, showed the chapter the completed suits. Eight suits were made and will be mailed to Mooseheart immediately.

The chapter voted to purchase a coffee urn and it also was decided to hold a rummage sale Oct. 22 and 23.

CHRISTMAS IN October will be held at the lodge home Oct. 23 at 8 o'clock. Members were asked to bring gifts and gift wrapping paper to the party. The gifts will all be shipped to the children in Mooseheart so they will be there before Christmas.

The chapter received the name of a Moosehaven member, and decided to send sunshine gifts and cards at Christmas and other holidays. These also will be brought to the lodge and mailed in one package.

Members of the birthday committee for October are Mrs. Ondik, chairman; Mrs. Katharine Hill, Mrs. Mary Polkinhorn and Mrs. Cora Monks, aides.

Ritual work will be rehearsed Monday, Sept. 29, at the Moose home at 7 o'clock.

Pigs-in-the-boxes and special prizes were won by Mrs. Hill and Mrs. M. Marguerite Sevier.

Drive Started To Raise Funds For Class Trip

By PEARL POTA

September marks the beginning of a busy year for the members of the Senior class. The class has begun to sell candy every day during the lunch hour in order to obtain money to pay the expenses of the class trip to New York city.

The class also will earn money by selling Christmas cards and by sponsoring various affairs throughout the school year.

The Senior class assembly program will be presented Oct. 17. The program committee consists of Mariann Hospador, Joan Horst, Pearl Pota, Richard Bechtel, Leidy Gaugler, and William Kellerman.

This class also will sponsor a football dance in the near future.

Paul Strzlecki, the class president, has already appointed a play committee to report on various kinds of plays. The class will then decide on a play which will be presented Dec. 4. On the play committee are Mary Axsmith, Laura Brunner, Anna Ciori, Dale Neiman, Richard Geisler, and Roger Rider.

Dec. 11 will be the date of the annual Christmas dance, one of the three most important dances held during the school term.

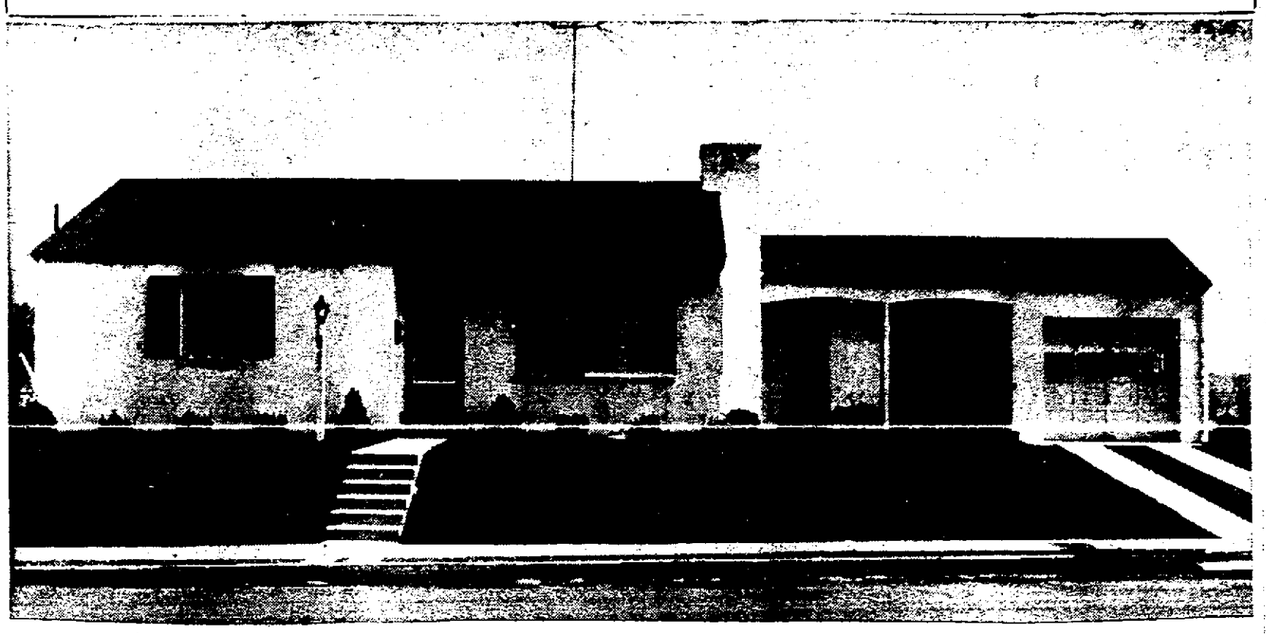

* * *

OTHER DATES the class is looking forward to are March 24, 25, and 26 when the senior class trip will be held.

Baccalaureate services will be held May 17, Class night May 19, and Commencement May 21.

Pottstown's Prides

Another in the series of beautiful homes that make Pottstown warm

—Mercury Staff Photo

It took hard work by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Root to keep the lawn at their home at 343 Grace street from being parched during the hot weather that followed their moving into the brand-new house the past July 1. They solved the problem of giving the lawn plenty of water, without doing anything to lower the low water pressure in their neighborhood, by staying up until after midnight, then sprinkling the lawn. The house was built of cement block, plastered, by Sanders and Thomas incorporated. On the one floor are a knotty-pine kitchen, dining room, living room, two bedrooms and bath. The back of the breezeway is used as a porch. The shutters and doors are apple green. The roof is multi-colored. The walls inside are of white plaster, which the Roots will not paint until the plaster has had ample time to set. For the time being, Mrs. Root is using drapes to lend color to the interior. The roof overhang at the front door serves to cut down glare and keep rain from the windows below. Root is a tower man at the Colebrookdale railroad junction of the Reading company. That's Mrs. Root in the shadows of the breezeway.

Millionaire Playboy Faces Deportation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The justice department today announced the arrest of William G. Lias, millionaire West Virginia sportsman, for deportation.

The department said Lias was picked up at Pittsburgh by immigration authorities on a warrant charging that he was not in possession of a passport when he last entered the United States at San Francisco in September, 1935. It said he was a native of Greece.

Lias, 52, and weighing some 400 pounds, has had a spectacular income tax fight with the government over the past several years.

Throughout his career, as a race track operator and in other enterprises, he has generally been regarded as an American citizen. The department said, however, that he came to this country from Greece Aug. 29, 1909 — when he was nine years old — with his mother, arriving at New York city on the steamship Patris under the name of Vassilios Liacakos.

The department contends he was never naturalized.

Walter Trout to Head Teacher Association In West Pottsgrove

The West Pottsgrove Teachers association held its first meeting of the 1952-53 school year Sept. 9. Officers elected are: president, Walter Trout; vice president, Albert Bolinsky; secretary, Ruth Rahn; treasurer, Mrs. Madeline Sowers.

Plans for the coming year were discussed. The president appointed these persons to the Gift Committee: Mrs. Beatrice Koppenhaver, Mrs. Kathryn Wenhold, Charles Kazmerovicz; and these to the social committee: Mrs. Laura Kehler, Ruth Rahn and William Keays.

columnist, thought of the idea."

The first squad of vendors ventured out on High street at 2:30 p. m. yesterday. It was not long until they were surrounded with peanut eaters and empty shells. By 6 p. m. they had dispensed 1000 bags.

Heartened by the prompt response, the main platoon of vendors invaded the business section of High street as the evening shopping rush began. By 9 p. m. they had sold another 1000 bags.

The northeast corner of Penn and High and the southeast corner of Charlotte and High proved to be the busiest stands.

PEANUT VENDORS for a day were Arthur S. Weitzenkorn, chairman of the squad, Harry "Bud" Wilson, A. Eugene Smith, James Smale, Martin Feit, W. O. Cressman, Waverly Kiehl, Stanley I. Davenport Jr., William Mowrer, John Fraser, L. Ernest Pickard, Robert MacPhail and Harry W. Burdan.

The successful salesmen are expected to be out again today but with only 400 bags left to sell, it looks like the work will be lighter. Prospective customers had better get there quickly.

Class Leaders Feted By Pottstown Rotary

By JOSEPH HARBACH

During September a number of pupils were chosen to visit the Pottstown Rotary club. Each week two pupils visited the club. One was chosen for leadership, and one to entertain the men of the club.

Richard Geisler was chosen to be one of the leaders. He is president of the Athletic association, president of Student council, treasurer of the Senior class, and manager of the football team. He has also played the trumpet in the school band for the past six years.

Roy Mest, president of the Safety patrol, member of the football team, and tuba player in the band for the past three years, was chosen as one of the leaders. He was welcomed by the president of the club, after which dinner was served.

The entertainers were Frank Fontana, on the accordion; Nelson Levengood, on the flute; Yvonne Lucas on the marimba accompanied by Catherine Gilbert at the piano; and Robert Sabo, on the trumpet.

Additional leaders and entertainers will be sent again in December and March.

One of the most technical of industries, electronics manufacturing, employs an unusually large proportion of unskilled workers.

"gave me a hard time."

Dewan said he stopped Tarmin's truck to ask him about the rear wheel flaps on the vehicle when the defendant became abusive.

Because he has spent the past two weeks in the county prison, Ambrose Butler, of 132 Mintzer street, Pottstown, was allowed to go free yesterday by Judge E. Arnold Forrest. The Court advised Butler to "get back to work" so as to raise funds to pay the costs, a fine and damages he caused in an automobile accident.

Butler pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated on Sunday, Sept. 14, in Hilldale. In giving him a suspended sentence and placing him on probation for one year, Judge Forrest ruled that he must pay a fine of $100 and costs amounting to $48.05.

According to Lower Pottsgrove Chief of Police Harry G. Chrusch, the defendant struck a parked car on Road B, Hilldale. In default of bail he was sent to jail where he remained until yesterday.

'Liberty vs. Socialism' Is Big Issue, Says Taft

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said tonight the real issue in the Nov. 4 election is "Liberty versus Socialism."

He said we must "restore the principles under which this nation was conceived" and we must get rid "of the imposition of this new policy, or philosophy entered into in the 1930s of 'let the government run our affairs.'" program to council.

The statement as proposed by the various members will show the highway committee's purpose, the amount of the bond issue, a selection of streets to be built and methods of payment by the borough and property owners.

With the exception of border streets around housing developments which are paid for half by the contractor and half by the homeowner, the burden of the new streets will be carried one-third by the borough and two-thirds by property owners.

The need to submit figures to council and the people as to the annual costs of paying off the bond issue was expressed by Gulden. He indicated that annual payments on a 15-year issue would be $61,625, whereas a 20-year issue would cost $49,030 yearly.

GULDEN ARRIVED at his figures on an estimated 3 percent interest rate. He specifically pointed out that the shorter term would result in a savings of $56,225.

The earlier part of last night's meeting was spent in listening to a proposal made by a Firestone Tire and Rubber company representative for a new bridge spanning the Schuylkill river in the vicinity of the plant.

The spokesman for Firestone said the plan would alleviate traffic conditions on the Keim street bridge and would add a much needed third crossing into Chester county from Pottstown.

He said Firestone was primarily interested in the bridge because of the added trucking facilities it would insure and because it would help their employes living in Chester county.

It was pointed out that since the bridge, if built, would be in Lower Pottsgrove township, Firestone was not seeking financial aid but only the endorsement of the project from the committee.

The committee voted unanimously to present the plan on the agenda at the coming council meeting.

When cold applications are placed on a bruise, the blood vessels are contracted and swelling and internal bleeding reduced.

FATHER DONOVAN —

before being assigned to Holy Trinity Catholic church in Morrisville.

There is only one other priest at Holy Trinity Catholic church, according to Father Donovan.

He said he has no idea of the size of the parish but that whatever it is now it is sure to grow rapidly when the Fairless plant of the United States Steel company in Morrisville begins operations.
